Candidates? P. 3

Rapid Transit? P. 7

That 'X' Stands for Candidates, Not Kisses

Voters will have from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. to mark their general election ballots next Tuesday, and from the list confronting central county residents, it may take that long.

Nearly 40 X's will be necessary for you to record your opinion on candidates for national, state and local offices — also issues contained in 24 propositions, not to mention the rapid transit bond issue, and that coveted and controversial state superintendency of public instruction.

On the ballot are prospective U. S. senators, U. S. representatives, state govenors, lieutenant govenors, attorney generals and the like—also the people we may see more frequently—our state assemblymen (no state senator contest here this year.

Here are the contests and issues which are claiming most attention from local voters, as the deadline for their "citizenship homework" draws near:

Governor Edmund (Pat) Brown, democrat, seeking second term, versus former U. S. Vice-President Richard Nixon, republican and now an attorney in private life.

They are debating personalities, "smears", communists in government, fiscal responsibility, while the Brown record has not been attacked frontally.

The voting should be close.

Sixth District (Contra Costa County) Congressman John Baldwin, republican and resident of Martinez, seeking his fifth term, versus Charles Weidner, democrat of Pleasant Hill.

Baldwin, who is considered a "liberal republican", has been attacked by Weidner for a number of his "no" votes, including the United Nations bond issue.

Baldwin points to his No. 3 republican ranking on the powerful U. S. House public works committee and his seniority as a lever for getting things done for Contra Costa County.

Until the election, Baldwin has had to campaign in both Contra Costa and Solano Counties, but the 1960 census took the other county away from him.

Baldwin is favored.

Tenth District (Walnut Creek, Pleasant Hill, Alamo, Concord, etc) Assemblyman Jerome Waldie, democrat of Antioch, versus David Fisher, republican of Pleasant Hill, a real estate executive.

Waldie has pointed to his knowledge and influence in Sacramento where he is assembly majority leader although completing only his second term.

Fisher has claimed that Waldie is "not representing his district" and has criticized Waldie on state financial policy.

Eleventh District (Orinda, Lafayette, Richmond, etc) Assemblyman John Knox, democrat of Richmond, versus John Anderson, republican of Orinda, drug company representative.

Knox, labeled as a strong liberal, has voted regularly with the liberals in Sacramento, favoring extension of state benefits to the aged, unemployed, disabled, calling for strong civil rights program.

Anderson has criticized the state narcotics and crime record, its financial policies and its policy towards subversives.

Knox, who has Democratic Richmond to draw upon, is favored.

There are no supervisorial, superior court or state senator races, in our area this year.

So controversial as to become a real local issue, is the contest for state superintendent of public instruction between Ralph Richardson, past president of the Los Angeles City Board of Education, and Dr. Max Rafferty, school district superintendent.

Opponents of Richardson claim he represents the questioned "adjustment" approach to education and also claim he exaggerates his educational background.

Opponents of Rafferty claim Rafferty is supported by ultra-right wing groups, and would take a dictatorial approach to education if elected.

Richardson ran ahead of Rafferty in the primary election in June.

Of the 24 propositions, No. 24 has caused the most division of opinion, although both Nixon and Brown and many republican (albeit conservative) candidates have taken stands against it.

No. 24 calls for investigation of subversive activities of employees of public educational institutions by authorized public officials and also grand juries which would be able to meet in secret, reach conclusions and take action without public review.

Proposition No. 23, the state reapportinment of senate seats, is strongly opposed in this area, but favored in Southern California.

There is a long list of state officials to be elected, including the United States Senatorship, desired by incumbent Thomas Kuchel, republican, and State Senator Richard Richards, democrat from Los Angeles.

Kuchel is favored.

Evacuation Drills Are Practiced In Orinda Schools

Copies of the policy for disaster evacuation procedure have been passed out this week in the Orinda Union School District, according to Superintendent Joseph Sheaff.

The schools have been practicing both the red and yellow alert this week.

"THIS IS A review for children who have been here before, and to acquaint new teachers and students with the procedure," said Sheaff.

The red alert means "take cover immediately." Students do this by going to the safest place in the classroom and covering their heads, and awaiting further instructions.

THE YELLOW alert means that "an attack is probable". Children gather at this signal at pre-arranged destination on the school grounds; and then are sent home.

As no transportation would be available, groups are arranged so that older children may escort the younger ones.

Candidates Meet, Argue At Sun Night

Hundreds crowded the Acalanes High School gymnasium last night to hear debates between local U.S. Congress and State Assembly candidates at The Sun Candidates Night.

Candidates John Knox, Jerome Waldie, John Baldwin, David Fisher, John Anderson and Chuck Weidner appeared to make their positions clear as the final days of the campaigns run out.

Voters also heard spokesmen for Ralph Richardson and Max Rafferty, candidates for the nonpartisan office of State Superintendent of Schools. Mrs. Henrietta Koch of Albany spoke on behalf of Rafferty, while Richardson was represented by Richard Foster, a Bay Area school superintendent.

The hottest debate of the evening was that between proponent and opponent of Proposition "A", the Rapid Transit proposal.

Stan White, president of the Citizens Against Proposition "A" and Ed Hillyer, East Bay manager, Citizens for Rapid Transit, squared off on the vital issue.

Marty's Boutique Bows in Village

Marty's, a fashion boutique whose co-owners both have the first name of Marty, will open its decorative doors, Monday, at 87 Orinda Way.

According to owners, Mrs. (Marley) Darneal and Mrs. Marty (Robert) Thompson, the specialty shop will carry fine fashions from sportsclothes to party wear, jewelry and smart accessories.

The two long-time friends who have traveled as service wives with their military husbands, have for many years wanted to venture into this type of specialty shop. The white-carpeted boutique, decorated with purple velvet tufted chairs and rococco gold, is very much their dream come true.

Invitations have been mailed for a champagne preview tommorrow evening.

Robert Jensen Wins Award for Watercolor

Robert Jensen, Orinda artist, won third place in the watercolor division at the 22nd annual exhibition of the Society of Western Artists.

The exhibit of oils, watercolors, pastels, graphic arts and sculpture opened to the public Wednesday at the M. H. deYoung Museum, Golden Gate Park, San Francisco.

Tuesday night was the invitational preview. The show will last through December 2. Admission is free.

Approximately 1000 western artists of national and international reputation, exhibit. Last year, over 100,000 visitors saw the exhibition.

Vic Sauer Will Address Public Meeting Monday

The overall problem of El Toyonal will be discussed by County Public Works Administrator Vic Sauer, Monday night. Through the Orinda Sun, a meeting between county officials and El Toyonal homeowners has been arranged. It will be at Orinda School at 8 p.m.

The "no-host" meeting is open to the public. No formal invitations have been issued. All residents of the El Toyonal hill sector are asked to attend and tell their neighbors about the meeting.

THE ORINDA Association, Lake Orinda Highlands Improvement Association, Hacienda Homes Improvement Association are among the groups who will send representatives.

Sauer will bring with him members of his technical staff.

"What we should do is to explore the problem again and come to some conclusion to the answers," said Sauer. "It's almost a foregone conclusion that not everybody will agree on what is the answer. Every effort should be made to find a compromise that would be logical to the majority of people in the area."

SAUER STATED that there was one point on which there was total agreement: totally inadequate drainage. The Monday night meeting will deal primarily with this facet.

Sub-committees will be formed, said Sauer. "Curative and preventative action is needed."

Miss Irma Fremd and Miss Margaret Schmidt hope to attend Monday's meeting regarding El Toyonal. However, it is too late for them to do anything about their home on Alta Vista.

Miss Fremd, the owner, sold it at a sacrifice price to a neighbor's employee. The home was extensively damaged by the storm.

"I'm really through with it," said Miss Fremd, who is living at the California School for the Blind, Berkeley, where she works. "I was just getting the house fixed up from the last storm. Some of the bills, I hadn't even caught up with."

Miss Schmidt, who lived with Miss Fremd, is employed at the Orinda Pharmacy. She is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hightower, 2 Soule Road. The Hightowers were the ladies' former neighbors on Alta Vista — until they lost their home in the storm of '58.

Sauer has been with the County Public Works Department since April, 1952. He served as a road commissioner and surveyor before becoming director.

He graduated from the University of California, Berkeley, as a civil engineer. Prior to the war, he worked for the City of Oakland. He joined the staff of the county sanitary district after the war.

ROBERT COX, 21 El Rincon, will preside over the meeting. There will be an open discussion after Sauer's talk.

"Whatever is wrong here is getting worse," said Mrs. Robert Cox, a resident of 11 years. She expressed concern over the lack of coordination between the culverts put in by Hacienda Homes, Inc. and those planned by the county.

Hacienda is putting in 36-inch pipe in the El Rincon sector. "If the county puts in something larger, then they should coordinate the drainage program," said Mrs. Cox.

Mrs. George Parks, 12 South Trail, states that only five out of the eight families on that street have been able to return to their homes. The Robert Graces and Wilbur Lawsons probably will be unable to return for many weeks, according to Mrs Parks.

Telephone service to South Trail was resumed Wednesday.

HOBGOBLINS flew about Orinda, Hallow-e'en. However, during the day, the trio at left had to contend with such things as school buses and bag lunches. The sneakers were great for sneaking. Two Boys Admit Rock Spree; Cars Damaged

Two Miramonte High School boys, 15 and 16, admitted to a weekend rock-throwing spree, according to sheriff's deputies. Windows of at least 10 homes and two cars were broken.

Sheriff's Juvenile Officer Frank Rizzo said the boys were traced through witnesses' description of their auto and license.

Rizzo called the boys from their classes at Miramonte Monday. He stated that they admitted their part in the incidents.

Another 16-year-old from Modesto accompanied them, they said. They gave no explanation for their actions.

"They're all from good families," Rizzo said. "And the high school counselors were amazed when I explained why I wanted to see them."

The boys were not arrested but were cited to appear in the sheriff's juvenile division.

Lights On In Tunnel

"Let there be light," a California Division of Highways engineer said early this week in Caldecott Tunnel, and—at long last—there was light.

Jack Grassberger, of the division, informed The Sun yesterday that the lights are on at full capacity, contrary to reports from other sources.

"We lack only final clearance on the electrical repair work, for official completion of the job," Grassberger said.

Gas Station No. 22 for Lafayette Near Decision

An application for Lafayette's 22nd gas station will be up for decision Wednesday night before the County Planning Commission, Board of Adjustment Wednesday night.

No new date was set for the heading on Norcal's application for a 10th gas station in Orinda.

Also due for decision before the board Wednesday is a sign variance application by Mobil Oil Company.

MOBIL OIL'S land use application for a gas station on Russ Bruzzone's property at First Street and Mt. Diablo Boulevard has already been approved.

However, the Lafayette Design Project has protested the size of the sign and the fact that the board approved the request to allow construction of the sign within the 10-foot setback.

Humble Oil Company has applied for a land use permit for an Enco station to be built at Oak Hill Road and Mt. Diablo Boulevard, the present site of Danny Van Allen's and another small building.

NORCAL COMPANY, land investors, is seeking approval for another Enco station in Orinda Village. The proposed station would be on 197-foot frontage between the Plaza and Lucky's.

Richard Bartle, chairman of the planning committee of the Orinda Association, expressed hope that decision on Orinda's 10th station would be postponed until after a review of the Orinda General Plan, early in 1963.

BOTH STATIONS (Lafayette's No. 22 and Orinda's No. 10) applied for land use permits before the Board of Adjustment of the County Planning Commission on October 24.

They were fourth and fifth on the board's agenda. Both decisions were postponed for further study. A date was set for the decision on Lafayette's station. No date was set for Orinda's.

Speaking in opposition to the Orinda station were Jack Cutter, Richard Bartle, Mrs. Richie Ward and Everett Howe, all of Orinda.

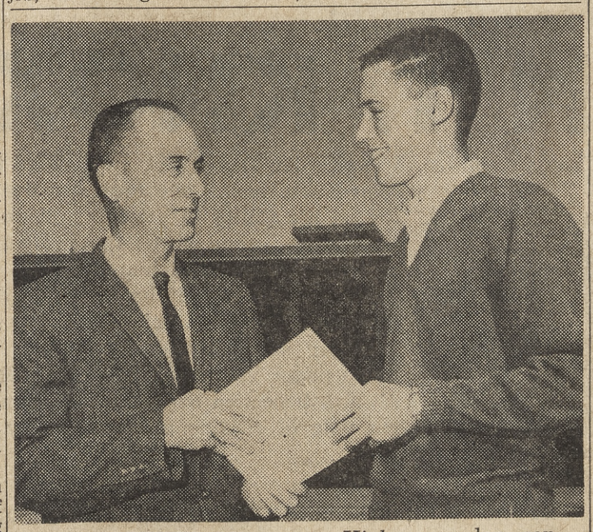
Phillip Lehrman was spokesman for both Norcal and Humble.

Del Rey Book Fair Is Today

The Del Rey Parents' Club is having its Book Fair at the Del Rey library today. The doors will be open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. both days. It began yesterday.

There will be over 300 books to choose from, ranging from kindergarten through the seventh and eighth grades. To those parents who have expressed an interest in encyclopedias there will be three representative sets on display.

Books will not be sold from the display but orders will be taken and delivery is promised within two weeks—in plenty of time for Christmas. Mrs. Frederick, district librarian, will be present to answer questions or to assist in the selection of appropriate books for children.



LLOYD HUNT, Miramonte High counselor, congratulates student Ken White on his receipt of two honors. "Yale Book Award" was for his selection as an "outstanding junior" by the Yale Alumni Association of Northern California. Ken's designation as a semi-finalist by the Hertz Engineering Foundation is for scholarship in engineering and applied sciences. As a Hertz semi-finalist Ken will have an opportunity to compete for a college scholarship in engineering. The competition is directed by Dr. Edward Teller, of the University of California and atomic research fame.

Shelters Can Hold Over 5800

Spurred by the current "Cuban crisis," the Contra Costa County Civil Defense Office has made plans to mark and stock fall-out shelters throughout the county.

Shelters to be established in the central county area are the Capwell's building on South Broadway in Walnut Creek and the middle dorm at St. Mary's in Moraga.

Capwell's will have a capacity of 5797, while the dormitory capacity is estimated at 51.

The population of incorporated Walnut Creek alone is more than double the combined capacity of the two shelters.

GOP Women's Club Will Meet Wednesday

The Orinda Republican Women's Club will meet Wednesday at Mike Lynn's. A noon luncheon will be followed by installation of officers for the ensuing year.

A brief board meeting of current officers is scheduled for 11:30 a.m.

Orinda Assoc. Votes to Back Rapid Transit

The Orinda Association's Board of Directors voted to endorse Proposition "A" on Tuesday's ballot. A special closed meeting was called to arrive at what stand the association would take in the $792,000,000 rapid transit proposal.

At the board's last regular meeting, October 15, a decision on BART was postponed for further consideration.

"After lengthy discussion, the board decided that the alternatives to BART were either less desirable or more costly," said Eric Nielsen, president.

Busy Agenda Is Slated for School Trustees

The trustees of the Orinda Union School District will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. Their last meeting was postponed due to the storm.

On the agenda are: selection of educational materials; a science report; school site on G&L property off Lombardy Lane; substitute custodians; maintenance report; financial reports; cafeterias; conference attendance; recreation report; and the Inland Valley slide.

A VIEW OF THE LAFAYETTE RESERVOIR LOOKING SOUTH FROM THE TOP OF THE DAM

Hector Plan 'Restricts'

The Hector Report, a public use plan for the Chabot and Lafayette Reservoirs, becomes a very important document once you try to deviate from it.

Two Lafayette groups already are suggesting ideas for the Lafayette reservoir area which is completely owned by East Bay Municipal Utility District.

The Lafayette Sailing Club wants to establish a boat club.

The Lafayette Community Center directors are investigating the possibility of moving the site of their proposed center to the reservoir area.

The center directors recently concluded a fund-raising drive which netted approximately $30,000.

AT THE present, the center owns 12 acres on St. Mary's Road.

The Lafayette Sailing Club is still in the planning stage.

It is being formed because of the interest in "El Toro" sailing by many local residents.

Neither group has bothered to tell EBMUD about their plans; however, John Malloy, EBMUD property planner, told The Sun.

"If something was afoot to change to Hector report, I would be one of the first to know about it," he said.

Normally, anything to do with EBMUD land is channeled to Malloy, who is in charge of all watershed property owned by the district.

No letter of any kind has been written to the general manager or directors of EBMUD, Malloy said, in regard to a sailing club or a community center.

Malloy pointed out that there have been a number of requests in the past asking EBMUD for use of district land.

THESE REQUESTS are always sent to Malloy.

Any changes in the Hector report will have to come from the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Proposed Recreational Use of EBMUD Reservoirs, established by AB 286 in December, 1960.

The executive committee, or working committee, has already approved the Hector report.

Approval of the larger body (36 members as opposed to 14 on the executive group) is needed before the plan to open the reservoirs can proceed further.

The advisory committee is slated to meet November 21 to consider the Hector report. All members received a copy of the report several weeks ago.

THE BIG obstacle to opening the Lafayette and Chabot reservoirs is a water permit for recreational use of the reservoirs. This means a change of permit — and the Hector plan has been authored to meet the specifications of the public health department.

Hector naturally did not want to submit a plan that would not meet with the public health department's approval, Malloy stated. Therefore, the report carefully states just what will be allowed at the reservoirs.

If the change of water permit is approved, directors of the district can open the reservoir for recreation or call for a vote of the people within the district to decide the fate of the reservoirs.

However, EBMUD has stated officially that it will not develop the land as a recreation area. It will be up to an outside agency.

So far the possibilities have been mentioned—for the Lafayette Reservoir—Contra Costa County and East Bay Regional Parks.

A recommendation might be forthcoming at the November 21 meeting of the advisory committee.

COUNTY PARK Director Duane Mattison said last week, the county has not been asked to take over the operation of the area—and probably won't be until the amended water permit is granted.

He did not say if the county would volunteer an offer to run the area.

However, at a meeting in Lafayette last week he did say he thought the county could open the reservoir for far less than the $300,000 mentioned in the Hector report.

He said a minimum of facilities could be installed at first with the operation expanding over a period of years — if the county operates the reservoir.

He told sailing enthusiasts that he thought their idea for a sailing club could be "worked out."

However, he told The Sun he hadn't really considered the possibility of a community center on the property as yet.

A Look Inside Reservoir...

By GEORGE COLBURN

It was to be a tour of the proposed Lafayette Terminal Reservoir recreation area.

I wanted to see the property that could be opened for public, recreational use sometime next year.

To most people (except, perhaps the adventurous youngsters), the land and the reservoir itself beyond the fence was a deep-dark mystery.

What did the Lafayette Reservoir look like, I asked myself?

East Bay Municipal Utility District was very accommodating—as they were when The Sun first learned of the plant to open the reservoir last March (and broke the first story about it).

JOHN MALLOY (alias Colonel Jack from his army days), EBMUD property planner, was to guide the tour.

The tour didn't last very long.

The heavy rain from the previous week's big storm made car travel impossible over much of the dirt and gravel access road.

Along with Sun photographer, Martin White, also a first-time guest inside the gate of six locks (he admitted his kids had done a little fishing on the lake), I was given a first look at this EBMUD watershed land on a sunny, but slightly hazy morning.

The main gate and the main road entering from Mt. Diablo Boulevard at Lafayette's western entrance aren't much to talk about right now. They serve the purpose, however, for EBMUD rangers who patrol the lad.

However, this will be improved and made the main entrance and exit to the recreation area—if the reservoir, EBMUD's smallest, is opened.

IMMEDIATELY, the road goes up and the trees and foliage surround you on both sides. You cannot see the sun overhead as the overhanging tree limbs hold the rays back.

It immediately reminded me of the Sierra area.

It takes only a few seconds and you come out into the sunshine atop the reservoir dam.

The view is tremendous. You can't believe this is Lafayette. Where are the cars, the traffic, the people? It's almost too good to be true.

The dam itself is 82 feet high, of earth fill construction.

THE SURFACE area of Lafayette's own lake is 133 acres. There are 970 acres of land surrounding the lake, all owned by EBMUD—and not open to public eyes since 1929 when the reservoir was built.

The dam, at the north end of the reservoir, is 200 feet wide and 1150 feet long.

The recreation area, according to planner, Fred L. Hector, would be along the water's western shore.

We tried to reach this spot, but it was too dangerous to drive [illegible] muddy road—and a fallen tree stopped us as we tried to walk it.

Just the view was enough to sell me on the spot, however.

It seems a shame that such a beautiful spot should go to waste—with the public outside not knowing what's on the inside.

THE RANGERS have some exciting Saturdays chasing youngsters out of the property, but there aren't too many adults who hop the fences.

However, it wouldn't be hard to guess what the Lafayette Reservoir area would be like if EBMUD hadn't decided to build a reservoir in 1929.

This beautiful sanctuary ing thought of for public use now.

It would be a part of Lafayette —and there would no lake or untouched woods.

The nature-lover, for whom there will be trails constructed, will truly enjoy the EBMUD site. Birds and wildlife came and went as they pleased as we stood atop the dam. Ducks (class unknown) were seen, often and in abundance, on the calm reservoir water.

ONCE INSIDE the EBMUD land, you can't see a single house, a single car, a single business establishment.

It's true that there will be a few of our fellow-humans there once the reservoir is opened.

However, the area is going to be developed so most of its natural beauty will be retained.

The Hector plan is designed so the family can enjoy the wonders of Mother Nature, "right in their own backyard."

As we prepared to leave, a woman and her dog came up the road.

At some time in the past, she probably was curious and got an illegal look at the reservoir.

She wasn't startled by the EBMUD car. She nodded, smiled and walked by us.

Malloy didn't have the heart to stop her.

EBMUD PROPERTY PLANNER John Malloy points out the different aspects of the Hector Plan on a tour of the proposed recreation area of the Lafayette Reservoir this week. In the background, a mechanized tower which controls flow of water.

Youth Concert Campaign in Final Stages

Area chairmen and board members met recently at the home of Mrs. Fred Eitzel, Walnut Creek, to make plans for the final drive of the sale of tickets for the eighth annual series of the Central Contra Costa Youth Concerts.

A mail order campaign has been held and the remaining tickets were alloted to the following area chairmen and their school workers: Mesdames Francis Showalter, Walnut Creek; Clark Skadden, Concord; Jack Cotteral, Pleasant Hill; George Reed, Alamo - Danville; and Herb Goranson, Lafayette.

The San Francisco Ballet will open the series with a program on December 2.

Josef Marais and Miranda, his wife, who will present the second concert on January 20, are known as "international balladeers," or modern minstrels, who collect, arrange and present songs of folk origin from many lands in a highly original way.

Martin Files Countersuit in Divorce Case

Jack W. Martin, Jr., Lafayette builder, has contested the divorce suit filed by his wife, Oreon N. Martin, by filing a countersuit.

Martin is asking divorce on grounds of cruelty.

He has also requested the court to determine into whose custody the three children shall be given, "considering their best interests."

Martin is now paying $675 per month for temporary support of his wife and children, aged nine, seven and five.

Mrs. Martin also charged cruelty in her suit.

She has asked the court to divide the community property equitably.

The couple were married in Carmel in 1952.

Ch. Waitercock Elmer Brown, an English springer spaniel owned by Mrs. Juanita Waite Howard of Lafayette was named best in show at the Contra Costa County Kennel Club annual show in Antioch recently.

The competition included over 500 dogs of 73 breeds from eight western states.

Best of breed honors went to dogs owned by Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Green, Walnut Creek; Mr. and Mrs. S. Metall, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Cushman, both of Alamo; Mr. and Mrs. Don Harper, Pleasant Hall, and Reglib Kennels, Orinda.

Sunday Is 'Pop Warner' Day; Game at Miramonte

Now it is official!

Tom Coll, president of the county board of Supervisors has declared Sunday, "Pop Warner Football Day" by proclamation.

Specifically, the place is Miramonte High School football field, the time, 1 p.m.

The main event is a clash between two undefeated Pop Warner football teams vying for the East Bay League championship, each with a 5-0 record.

The LaMorinda Thunderbirds lost last year to the West Contra Costa Rockets, but the team members say this is the year they will even the score.

BOARD PRESIDENT Coll has not only proclaimed it, but he will be there in person, along with Sheriff Walter Young and Supervisor Mel Nielsen to help crown the 1962 Thunderbird Queen, the climactic event of a between-halves pageant.

Admission is always free to Thunderbird games, and with a full house in prospect, the perennial invitation still holds, "Bring the whole family for family fun!"

Thunderbird president, Joe Longacre told The Sun, "This is the culmination of three years of community effort. Sunday, two undefeated teams will meet in a game that may well mean the league and regional championship.

"They are well trained and superbly conditioned to avoid injury. They play with the finest pro and collegiate equipment, due to fine community generosity.

"OUR BOYS COME from Orinda, Lafayette, Moraga, Walnut Creek, Alamo and Danville and represent the best of these communities in the 12 to 15 year age bracket. They play fast, spectacular football that the most avid fan can really enjoy.

"Where else," concludes Longacre, "can you get a seat on the 50 yard line — and bring the whole family—for free?"

The queen contest will culminate in a between-halves ceremony crowning the winning candidate.

Queen candidates are Jan Hallander, Inland Valley Intermediate, Orinda; Lori Hill, Fairview, Lafayette; Carllene Blower, Las Lomas High, Walnut Creek, and Shirley Looney, Charlotte Wood School, Danville.

Nominated by the football team members, the girls and player sponsors have been avidly selling booster tickets throughout the central county area for the past four weeks.

Each ticket is a queen vote and all proceeds go to support team expenses for equipment, travel and insurance.

THIS SUNDAY will be a double attraction at Miramonte.

It is also the second "KO Polio Day" and hundreds of families who line up for their sugar cube are expected to go on to the football field.

It will also feature a traditional ceremony at the end of the game, awarding the "Madellena Dame" trophy to the winning team.

DEMOCRATS and REPUBLICANS agree

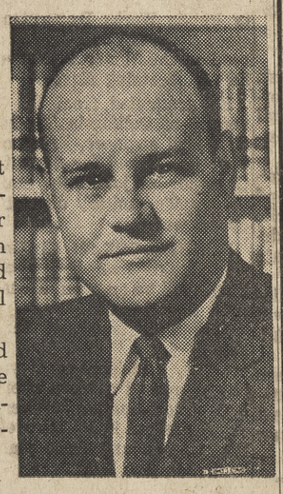
Re-elect Assemblyman

JOHN T. KNOX



We, of the Citizens for Knox Committee, are a bi-partisan group of voters who are supporting the incumbent State Assemblyman.

While we are divided on other candidates and issues on our Nov. 6th ballot we are united in our efforts to re-elect Assemblyman John T. Knox.

We, of the committee, who are Republicans know of course that our Assemblyman is a Democrat. We have switched to Knox because he is one of the ablest, and most highly respected legislators in the Assembly and, on the record, best for the communities of our district.

We, who are Democrats, are pleased that John Knox during one term has demonstrated his ability to get things done for his district, proud about the recognition he has received from his colleagues and the respect in which he is held by all sections of our community life.

Together as Democrat, Republican and Independent voters we hope he will be rewarded election day with the resounding vote of confidence he so richly deserves.

It's News Here, Too

A GRAVE SITUATION is facing the county—a critical shortage of land in which to bury indigents. All the available "Potters Fields" designated portions of old cemeteries in the Martinez, Clayton and Richmond areas have now been filled, according to C. A. Hammond, county senior administrative advisor.

Land in the new "endowment care" cemeteries costs the county too much. In fact, says Hammond, according to an ordinance in effect since 1944, the county allots only $75 for the whole burial procedure, including the services of a funeral home, as well as cemetery services.

"This is an unrealistic figure, of course, and we have been treating each case recently as 'exceptional' until we adopt a new ordinance," he said.

Latest "expectation" was the cost of burying one C. Vaugh, who was interned last week in Pittsburg for the sum of $178.75.

DON'T PROVIDE hospitality should be added to the list of "simple steps to protect your home from burglars" sent out by insurance companies in honor of Protection Week next week.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation reports that a burglary occurs every 46 seconds.

One of those occurred last week at the home of Sergio Venturini in Moraga. In addition to stealing some $700 worth of loot, the sociable robbers stopped at the bar in the kitchen for several drinks before beginning their work!

THE GAMING goes right on. The "rattle of bones" is once more punctuating conversations at a local club whose owners should know better . . . but then, from what we see, the cubes are rolling all over the area.

WHILE NIXON forces are explaining where the alleged million dollars in their campaign fund came from, the PH Democratic Club know exactly where the couple of hundred in their till came from. A bank loan, cosigned by 10 members, enabled them to carry on the work for local candidates.

Evidently the credit of the club is good, because they've borrowed money for the last three campaigns! As evidence of their week after elections, asking party members "low on funds to contribute rummage as their financial donation to the current campaign."

A TICKLISH situation was the reason Supervisor Mel Nielsen couldn't flip pancakes at the Orinda Lions Club breakfast two weeks ago. Surgery was required on his funny bone as a result of injuries he sustained earlier in an auto accident in February when four vertebrae were dislocated. A pinched nerve in his right arm caused slight paralysis. But Mel is bending the elbow just fine now!

ANYONE FOR slaloming? High school skiers who take their skiing seriously are forming the first intramural ski competition among the mid-county high school this winter. Spearheaded by the Del Valle Ski Club, they plan two one-day sessions, the first a clinic for intermediate and advanced skiers, and the second, a full-fledged meet with cross-country and down hill runs.

SHE MARCHED her foot right in her mouth, that Orinda woman who sang out loud and clear at the Orinda Association meeting the other night. Topic of discussion was multiple dwellings.

"Well, I hope we learned our lesson with the Brookwood Barracks," she said pointedly.

Seated next to her was the architect for the first multiple in Orinda, Brookwood Apartments.

SELF-CONFINDENT to the end, Harold Mutnick, the "unendorsed" Democratic candidate for the 14th Congressional District, is still driving around in the white car with the bright letters proclaiming "Mutnick, the People's Candidate" in which he campaigned against Charles Weidner in June.

With election day just around the corner, Mutnick still hasn't thrown in the towel officially, nor indicated to the press whether he is running as a write-in candidate.

NO EARNING while they learn, the sheriff's deputies have instead taken a "professional step forward" this week. By a ruling of the board of supervisors at the request of the sheriff, they will henceforth be required to participate in departmental training on their own time for a maximum of four hours a month.

"We tried this on a volunteer basis," said Undersheriff Harry Ramsey, "but the same fellows volunteered over and over.

"The law says we will furnish to the county police officers. And we say they must be learned officers. This way all our officers will be up to date on law changes as well as on gunnery practice."

Candidate Tips To Assist Voter

JOHN F. BALDWIN, 46, is the incumbent Republican congressman seeking re-election from the 14th Congressional District. He has represented the district since his first election in 1954.

Before that time, Baldwin practiced law in Martinez. He is a native of Contra Costa County, a descendant of a pioneer Danville family.

He is a graduate of the University of California and of its law school, Boalt Hall.

The congressman's eight years in the House have made him the ranking Californian on the House Public Works Committee. Baldwin has voted on every recorded roll call throughout the past eight years.

His record includes stands in favor of federal aid to education, medical aid to the aged through Social Security and lower tariffs.

He voted for the Administration's foreign trade bill and against the United Nations bond purchase.

CHARLES R. WEIDNER, 44, is a Democratic candidate for the 14th Congressional District. A health-welfare consultant, Weidner was educated in his native state of Minnesota, and at the University of California.

The candidate has lived in this district since 1955. He lives now with his wife and three teenage daughters at 41 Viking Drive, Pleasant Hill.

Weidner's experience and activities include 15 years in health plan and pension programming and civic activities in Lions, Girl Scouts and foreign student programs.

His platform includes a pledge to "bring Contra Costa into the New Frontier" through support of Medicare, full employment and federal aid for urban problems and education.

JEROME WALDIE, 38, is the Democratic incumbent assemblyman seeking reelection from the 10th District. He is a native and life-long resident of Antioch, where he practiced law before being elected to the Asembly in 1958.

He is a graduate of the University of California and its law school, Boalt Hall. He lives in Antioch with his wife Joanne and their three children.

Waldie was made majority leader of the Assembly in 1961. In addition, he has served on the following committees in the Assembly: Education, Ways and Means, Judiciary, Finance and Insurance, and Rules.

His platform includes opposition to Proposition 23, the reapportionment proposal, and endorsement of Proposition 1A, funds for higher education. He is known as a firm supporter of the Brown Administration.

DAVID FISHER, 37, is the Republican candidate for the 10th Assembly District. Fisher has been a resident of Contra Costa County since 1946. He lives in Pleasant Hill with his wife and their four daughters.

He attended the University of Missouri, Allegheny College, and graduated from the California College of Chiropractic.

He is a licensed real estate broker associated with a Pleasant Hill firm, and has been active in community organizations, including Pleasant Hill Young Republicans, Taxpayers and Parents Associated for Better Education, The Contra Costa Real Estate Board and the Concord Optimist Club.

Fisher's platform includes demands for limited government and lower taxes. He endorses Proposition 24, the "subversive activities" proposal.

JOHN T. KNOX is the Democratic incumbent assemblyman seeking re-election from the 11th District. He has law offices in Richmond, where he lives with his wife and three children.

Knox is the second first-term assemblyman since 1900 to be honored by appointment to the Rules Committee. He has also been appointed to the "Little Hoover Commission."

The assemblyman supported the balanced Brown Administration budget, and is author and co-author of bills passed to protect consumers against retail frauds.

He supported establishment of the state's first master plan for education, and supported higher old age pensions.

JOHN A. ANDERSON, 40, is the Republican candidate for 11th District assemblyman. He lives with his wife and two children in Orinda. Anderson has an engineering certificate from the University of California and a BS from Purdue.

He has been a production supervisor for the Cutter Laboratories and a professional services representative for the Pfizer Laboratories. Anderson is a member of the Scottish Rite bodies of the Masonic Lodge, a Phi Delta Theta, and belongs to the American Chemical Society.

He has been active in YMCA work for the past 15 years. His platform is based on an appeal for business-like operation of California government and for control of inflationary measures. He has also come out in favor of more stringent narcotic laws.

Last week, The Sun endorsed candidates Baldwin, Waldie and Knox. Yesterday, the San Francisco Chronicle also endorsed Baldwin, Waldie and Knox.

Political Pot

RICHARDSON—

Bryan O. Wilson, recently discussed his plans as co-chairman of the Contra Costa County campaign to elect Dr. Ralph Richardson state superintendent of public instruction.

Wilson was superintendent of schools for Contra Costa county for 26 years and is past president of the National Association of County Superintendents.

"I am depending on volunteers to bring these issues to the individual voter; they will make the final decision. Money invested in radio, television and advertising is secondary to the personal work accomplished within the local community," said Wilson.

RAFFERTY

"Small Businessmen for Rafferty" has been formed in Contra Costa County, it was announced.

The group will work with small businessmen in supporting Dr. Max Rafferty's candidacy for state superintendent of public instruction, according to Chairman James H. Wright, president of Flux Processing and Supply Co., Richmond.

"As small businessmen we know that good educational programs will require about 50 per cent of our tax dollars. We want to show our interest and concern by working for Max Rafferty, who has demonstrated quality education consistent with sound business practices," he said.

SPECIAL STAKE

Contra Costa County has a special stake in Proposition 1A, according to Superior Court Judge Wakefield Taylor of Martinez.

Judge Taylor pointed out that 1358 students from Contra Costa County are enrolled at the University of California in Berkeley, a 62 per cent increase from 900 in 1952.

"The growing number of students from Contra Costa and other counties is the reason for Proposition 1A, the $270 million college bond issue on the November ballot. Unless Proposition 1A passes, a classroom shortage may deny thousands of students a college education," he added.

WINE, TALK

The wines of the Paul Masson Winery will be sampled by the Orinda-Moraga Democrats tomorrow from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Oak Springs Club House, Spring Road and Underhill Road, Orinda.

The wine tasting event will be accompanied by exhibits displaying the agreements regarding the various propositions on the ballot for November 6.

The event will be widely attended by congressional and state legislative candidates. The public has been invited to attend.

LIMITATION

The support of the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors for Proposition 13 was announced today.

The board favored "Encouraging the growth of independent colleges and universities by removing the limitation on their property tax exemptions," memmers said.

Great art is the contempt of a great man for small art.

Waldie Smeared In Anonymous Letter Campaign

The relative decorum of political campaigning in the central county area was sharply altered Monday when an anonymous and possibly libelous letter attacking Assemblyman Jerome Waldie was circulated through the Post Office in the Pleasant Hill-Concord area.

Neither the source nor the total number of the hand-printed, duplicated letters were known, but the county district attorney's office reportedly had important information on the type of addressing mahcine used for the mailing.

The letters, signed "Liz," may constitute a misdemeanor violation of the State Elections Code because of their anonymity.

ASSEMBLYMAN Waldie told The Sun late this week that he will bring a libel suit against the mailers of the letter, when they are found.

The letter alleged that Waldie supported, through Senate-Bill 616, obscene questions asked school students in alleged tests for the mentally handicapped.

The bill, as the California Association for Mental Health and the Contra Costa Mental Health Association pointed out yesterday, had no connections with the alleged questions.

"THE REPRESENTATIONS of the letter concerning proposed legislation are completely false," Kurt Melchior, public affairs chairman of the state association, said yesterday.

The bill, which died in committee last year, was designed to permit local school districts to finance the costs of special education classes for children who are educationally handicapped.

Waldie supported the bill, which was introduced by Senator James McBride, Republican of Ventura County, now deceased.

The questions quoted in the letter were taken out of context from a minority report filed by three members of a citizens advisory commission appointed by the Joint Interim Committee on the Public Education System.

THE MINORITY report alleged that the questions were found in a Kern County Schools curriculum report entitled "Moral Values Inventory."

Waldie told The Sun yesterday that the information was supplied the minority group by one Mrs. Beard of Kern County.

The legislative representative of the Assembly has subsequently found that Mrs. Beard's report has been disqualified, Waldie said.

BEYOND THIS, Waldie, Melchior and other mental health spokesmen said, the questions have absolutely nothing to do with either the assemblyman or the bill he supported.

Melchoir explained that legislation to replace the dead SB 616 has been proposed.

It provides that no child shall participate in any special program for the educationally handicapped without the express written consent of his parents.

"The legislation," he went on, "will help to free the classroom teacher of some of his existing problems, and will benefit neurological and educationally handicapped children as well as those in the rest of the school system."

Suburbia Scribblings

By MARIE MONAHAN

Ten-Finger Exercise . . .

"NO BRIEF Interlude was there between September's smile, October's frown . . . October spurned, hath raged & turned the whole of Heaven upside down . . ." A parting shot poem I recall mentally scribbling during the tempestuous storm . . . (So how could I throw it in the wastebasket if I didn't even write it down?)

Now that October's gone down the drain leave it to Lucky's to get as mixed up about the season as the California Weather Man . . . All week Lucky Stores have been bursting with blooms, the artificial plastic variety, in what looks like a smart public relations move . . . While other stores are lining up the aluminum Christmas trees too prematurely, the big chain stores locally are backtracking a season. We picked an armful of orangey nasturtiums at 19 cents apiece & remembered that these first fake favorites of aphids (if they were real) cost us a lot more than THAT a few years back. Hong Kong's plastic flower biz is hitting new heights & so is Lucky's PR Dept. . . . just when we need it.

The Cuban crisis didn't even give us time to put down our transistors after the World Series . . . It sure made me nervous watching nervous shoppers do their grocery routine w/a nervous newscaster tuned static in their ears . . . & if you took a look around at the shopping carts, 1 out of 3 bulged w/bottled water & canned goods. We heard one lady remark that for almost a year she's kept her 2 wks. supply of food on hand, but just when the cupboard was bare, Cuba was there! I have the same trouble w/my cookie jar & drop-in company.

TRICK OR TREAT: Stores I stay away from—those that advertise "Tell Mom & Dad you need it right away!" Likewise for products on the lilliput's TV commercials, the kind that tell the kids to "go get Mom." Mom's cooking w/Crisco or bathing for Frisco & I'll bet they lose more customers that way . . . Now that Miss Teen Age America has been chosen, can you hardly wait for some keen competition in a Miss U.S.A. Kindergarten contest?

Let's play Post Office . . . & thank Laura Mallary, Postmaster, for her handsome contribution to the wall of ye local P.O. . . . A collection of U.S. stamps, artfully mounted & framed & I'm thinking of asking my own philatelists for the same for Christmas. Anyone for doubles?

I'D BE WORRIED, TOO . . . When the upper El Toyonal school buses were resumed on that treacherous route last week, concerned mamas requested their children be let off down below at La Encinal. But the bus tooled uphill on the one-lane route at about 30 miles per, w/the mamas steaming (literally!) right behind because the tots were kept aboard.

More muddy earth has been dumped at the undermined curve nr. Camino del Cielo & the late afternoon traffic teems a steady stream downhill but NOT without prayers as they pass this particular spot deserving top priority on the fix-up list.

NAN Davison will shop for her Thanksgiving turkey alone, thank you . . . Last time she & hubby Jim cased the meat counters together, he picked up a hefty Tom & swung it around for Nan to see. Have YOU ever been bopped on the face by 20 lbs. of frozen bird?

What's in a name? That elegant Segretta di Bellezza salon is a tongue-twister & already the ladies are referring to it as "Thelma's Place" . . . The two MARTYS', Darneal & Thompson, will christen their "dream come true" this Saturday w/a toast of champagne to their new decorative fashion boutique at 87 Orinda Way in the village.

TAKING in the Elmwood's "Best of Enemies," we saw music teach Mr. Pendleton & his missus also enjoying this very touching story of the love & affection of Man for Man. We need more movies like this one. A short two-hr. show you shouldn't miss.

FACES in the crowd: Attractive Billie Carlock playing hookey from the homefront w/her dghtrs. on their mid-wk. holiday from school & taking them to lunch, complete w/corsages, at Kaiser Center . . . Pat Darrow, wife of award-winning architect Lee, still doing the Opera wkly. & also rating a first-night box seat for the Bolshoi Ballet.

The Ray Fontaines will get their Christmas cards this year in a new San Jose mailbox . . . & the Jim Reads, mulling a move to Switzerland, have their charming house Up For Sale (none other quite like it.) Another unusual For Sale, the former deLaveaga home on Camino del Diablo, VERY French in flavor, w/an elongated blue pool right out the front door . . . & the Jay Meyers have turned their former latchkeys (right next to above) over to a lawyer & his family while they pow-wow w/PG & E & other problems to make them "at home" in their gorgeous new house on Camino Sobrante.

THE NEW Sunshine Center generating the spirit of the old General Store . . . A word from manager Art Stuart, owner Ted & charming wife Dorothy Rosenthal, too . . . Please, ladies, remove everything from pockets before tossing garments blithely into cleaning machines. Two expensive watches will never again be the same. They may have been water-proof but NOT cleaning-fluid proof!

BYRON NELSON, realtor, looking patiently a Lord Byron as he stood w/ONE article behind a lady shopper & her mountain of groceries at the check-out stand . . . If you are an antiques-buff, we hope you saw the cartoon spread in a recent New Yorker. It's good enough for framing. If you like to frame your friends!

MORE KICKS & Treats: If you thought you saw spots before your eyes one recent pre-Hallowe'en eve, forget it! It was Sylvia & Bob Cox costumed as two Dalmatians & rrrrrromping off to a Hillsborough masquerade party . . . Their dghtr. Susan, schooling in England, was recently chosen to model for a series of fall shots for the campus photog class. Reason? "Most typically English girl!" That's our Orindan!

Note from the Southland: John & Mary Dorr's darling Diana, now 17, recently won her multi-engine pilot's rating, thereby taking a lead over Mom & Dad . . . Young flier, who soloed at 16 after 6 flight hrs., now looks forward to commercial pilot's exam next yr. She's a jr. at Samohi. Which isn't in the Islands. Stands for Santa Monica High School. . . . ON THE SPUR of the moment, Orinda's Heber Smith & Lafayette's Ted Macauley flew to N.Y. for the World Series, optimistic, sort of, since they had no definite promise of tickets. But a friendly Giants' flack produced box seats for all 3 games at reg. prices & to cap it all, they came home on the Yankee charter to present their goggle-eyed children w/autographs of everyone from Jumpin' Joe & I Love Mickey down to the last pinch-hitter. In Smith's case, the children are all girls (GIRLS!) who by now probably have a steady stream of swains coming over to enviably view the esteemed signatures . . .

Stately statuesque Dee Seifert lining up her hundred charges for their stage entrance a la Rockettes . . . Barbara Smith chatting backstage w/Pat Nixon . . . Peggy Beckett, Lynn Biggs, Mickey Simpson in the post-rally scene when questions flew . . . & Orindan "Forefathers" Brad Heard, Hebe Smith, Paul Mouser & Jerry Breuner singing their terrif Barbershop harmony for the crowd . . .

MEANWHILE, over in this corner we have the Orinda-Moraga Democratic Club who'll bubble & babble & do it up Brown w/a wine-tasting party tomorrow eve, 6-8, at Oak Springs Clubhouse.

All in the Game . . .

KKEEPING UP with the Joneses, in this case the family of Dr. Hyzer Jones, Jr., you'd best be deft at dominoes, the game that gets a good going-over these nights in the family room when dusk comes early and evenings are long.

Natives of upstate New York, Hy and Rhody met while both were getting their medical degrees at the University of Rochester. A plastic surgeon, Dr. Jones had studied earlier at Dartmouth, where he was a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity.

Rhody won her nursing honors at Rochester. She still wears her "cap", however, invisible, to aid the Health Committee at Glorieta School as she did for several years or to roll up her sleeves for community drives or assist as she does in the Sabin K.O. Polio program. A member of the Arch of Sapphires, Herrick Memorial Hospital Guild, she is also a volunteer for "in-service" work at Merritt Hospital. The mother of active scouts, she has served as co-leader and committee member for Girl Scout Troops No. 387 and No. 213.

THE FAMILY members are hardy outdoorsmen, well-schooled in skiing and camping. Hy and Rhody learned the ropes in the rugged Adirondacks and their prowess on the slopes or in the wilderness has rubbed off on their children who are proficient, efficient and always fun to have along. Chris, 13 and Jan, 10, are ardent horse lovers ("change that to addicts") and are saving for same.

Four-year old Bill who attends a local nursery school, hasn't quite decided what he'll yet do with his piggy-bank pennies.

Civic-wise, Dr. Jones is a former director of the Glorietta Improvement Association, a current board member of Meadow Pool. Professionally, he is a member of many medical associations and has just returned with his wife from a trip to the Islands where he attended a scientific conference. The family home is at 24 Moraga Via where the dominoes are always out on the table.

Dr. C. D. Mallory Attends Church Annual Meeting

Dr. C. Denny Mallory, 29 Carisbrook Drive, Orinda, was recently a delegate to the 153rd annual meeting of the United Church of Christ at Elmhurst, Illinois.

American churches have more than one million potential missionaries living abroad and the United Church of Christ intends to recruit as many of them as it can to help spread the Christian gospel overseas, according to Robbins Strong, New York, secretary for program development of the United Church Board for World Ministries.

Our Canal Kills Adults as Well as Children

By BERNICE SCHARLACH

"Water is water, and it will attract people from 7 to 70. Fencing it is just adding a challenge, not a deterrent."

Thus spoke John DeVito, assistant manager of the Contra Costa County Water District, in whose canal little Alan Davis lost his life last month.

STATISTICS on the 27 other people who lost their lives in the canal, seem to bear out this point.

The total number is split right down the middle: 14 adults and 14 children.

The majority of the drownings occurred in fenced areas, and in at least two cases there was evidence that fences were cut or removed to gain access to the canal, according to the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation.

"It is terribly regrettable and difficult for the Water District to accept that this life-line is a participant to tragedy," DeVito said. "We have been and are continuing to make every attempt to correct it."

Going into the history of the canal, DeVito explained that it was built in 1940 by the U. S. Department of the Interior, Bureau of Reclamation, to supply water to rural agricultural areas.

THE 48-MILE waterway, extending from Oakley to Martinez, is still owned and maintained by the government. The county water district purchases the water from the government, and in turn, supplies it to municipalities, industries and agricultural users.

"In the early fifties, when the water-way was now running through areas with growing residential populations in Concord and Pleasant Hill, there was a great deal of concern about the dangers of the canal.

In 1953, a citizens' committee, members of the Water District and the Bureau of Reclamation all explored the possibilities of fencing the entire canal.

very high. The government

"The conclusion of those studies was that the cost was would not pay for it, so the cost would have to be paid locally. It was also felt that fencing the entire 48 miles would be a hindrance to the system when gates would have to be opened and closed every few feet.

"A LOCAL SAFETY council in the Pleasant Hill-Concord area concluded its survey in 1954 by stating it was not feasible financially or operation-wise to fence the entire canal.

As a result of these studies, in March, 1954, the county passed the so-called "Fencing Ordinance" which states that a developer who builds a subdivision (four or more houses) bordering on the canal right-of-way is changing the land use near the canal from agricultural to residential. He therefore must provide fencing along the right-of-way to protect residents. The ordinance also stipulates the height of the fence, five and one-half feet.

While the county ordinance only applies in unincorporated areas, all the cities within the canal area have embraced the county ordinance or adopted similar ones.

DeVito said in the case of the little Davis boy, whose home on Putnam Road in Pleasant Hill was unfenced, aerial photographs of the area indicate it was fenced at the time the homes were built. It must have been taken down and never replaced, he theorized.

IN JUNE OF 1954, the Water District instituted its Canal Patrol. Two Water District employees were deputized as sheriff's officers, given complete uniforms and unmarked cars with two-way radios.

"While these men are law enforcement officers issuing warnings and citations for trespassing on the canal right-of-way (maximum penalty is $500) their main function is educational," said DeVito.

The Canal Patrol operates on a varied, changing schedule in the heavily populated areas. At first, dozens of people, adults included, used the canal as short-cuts, to take walks, or bicycle rides. They once issued a citation to a Walnut Creek city councilman out bike-riding on the canal right-of-way. Now very few citations are issued, DeVito said.

The patrol performs such varied public relations services as retreiving lost objects in the canal (balls, kites, wooden duck,) returns lost children to their parents, and distributes some 20,000 pamphlets each summer to kids at school just before vacation starts warning them about the dangers of the canal.

HOW EFFICIENT has the patrol been in cutting down the number of drownings?

Statistics show that from 1940 to 1954, before its inception, there were a total of 25 deaths. Since 1954, there have been seven.

Of the 25, four deaths were not actually in the canal itself These bodies were found in the intake channel, similar to the Delta waterways, in Knightsen.

Of the remaining 21, 11 were soldiers stationed at Camp Stoneman. Army reports, which remain secret, only disclose that some of these deaths were due to violence, and some occurred when soldiers went "over the hill."

THE OTHER TEN deaths prior to 1954 were children. Two of these were toddlers (three-year-olds) and the remaining were from 6 to 11 years old.

Since 1954, three adults lost their lives in the canal, one the result of foul play, one who was intoxicated, and one, in West Pittsburg, who climbed the fence to get canal water for the heated radiator of his car.

The three children, in addition to little Alan Davis, ranged in age from 6 to 15. One lost his life when he was engaged in a "pushing" scuffle with another boy, one fell off a bridge in the Oakley area, and one, age 15, also climbed over a fence to get water for his parents car as they sat in their stalled auto nearby.

A WARNING against trespassing on the Contra Costa Canal right of way is being given to Dale Blanchard and Mildred Jonker by Officer E. A. Tomlin of the canal patrol. The young people were using the right of way as a short cut to get home from school. In the background, on the far left, is the unfenced area where a three-year-old drowned in the canal two weeks ago.

Another Suffrage Fight?

By GEORGE COLBURN

"Who'll be the first person on the moon?"

Will he be American—or will he be Russian?

These are big questions in our world today.

However, many people in the United States are missing the point Jane B. Hart points out.

Women are being grossly neglected in the space program in the United States, Mrs. Hart claims — and many women are hearing her talk out against this "injustice."

She thinks the nationality is important, but so is the gender.

"IN MANY ways, women are better qualified to travel in space," is how Mrs. Hart puts it.

Her husband is Phillip A. Hart, U.S. senator from Michigan. But this isn't Mrs. Hart's only claim to fame—and isn't her reason for speaking out against this "injustice"—another in the long line against the females of America.

Mrs. Hart, along with 12 other American females, has passed the very same physical tests that all U.S. astronauts must pass.

However, when it came time for the physiological and psychological tests, the qualified women were denied "authorization" from NASA.

Before a special Senate subcommittee on astronaut selection, Mrs. Hart called the world of outer space "some sort of a stag club."

This, of course, endeared her to the hearts of all American women.

OTHER testimony at the hearing pointed out that women consume less food and oxygen, are more resistant and less prone to heart attack, less susceptible to monotony, heat, pain, cold and noise.

Mrs. Hart, as well as Jerrie Cobb, the first woman to pass the physical tests, and others of the "charmed 13" have taken every opportunity to speak their peace.

At the invitation of the Concord, Pleasant Hill and Walnut Creek branches of the American Association of University Women, Mrs. Hart spoke at Las Lomas High School recently.

Her one-day junket to central Contra Costa County had no other purpose than to spread "this space-age form of the gospel" to the local clubs. She arrived Wednesday morning and was gone before midnight.

In a letter of reply to Mrs. Grunder, program co-chairman, Mrs. Hart said she was "immodestly leaping at the opportunity" of addressing people in this area.

She told The Sun that she was hoping to make several talks while in the Bay Area, but she had to hurry to Michigan to help Senator Hart campaign for Governor John Swainson's re-election. Swainson is running against George Romney, Rambler whiz who is the latest of the GOP's "golden boys.")

FROM A MALE'S point of view, Mrs. Hart's drawing was frightening.

The multi-use room at Las Lomas was crammed to capacity and then some. Of course, the audience was 95 per cent female.

Her talk was greeted with great enthusiasm. However, none of the men would comment. It was like the suffrage battle all over again.

One item that makes Mrs. Hart so unique is that she is 41 years old and has eight children. She has been married 19 years.

In this category, many American women are her equal and more.

However, none of them have passed the space flight physical test at Lovelace Foundation, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Not as well-known as Miss Cobb, 34, who grabbed all the publicity when she first passed the physical tests, Mrs. Hart has no competitors in the children department.

Mrs. Hart talked from notes. Her speech was not prepared.

SHE SAID she was always pleased to speak to the AAUW because "they were the kind of intelligent, responsible women, who if correctly informed can aid in the effort to improve our space program."

The purpose of the speaking campaign, Mrs. Hart said is to "open up for women a field where they can use their brains and talent."

Mrs. Hart admitted that she was not campaigning for herself, but for younger women who are interested in space.

She passed the physical in July, 1961.

"Any woman is now stymied as far as a part in the space race is concerned," she declared.

"I HAVE four girls and four boys — and I believe the girls should grow up with equal opportunities in this world," she said.

"There are plenty of girls (including the Hart girls) who are as smart or smarter than men in many fields," she told The Sun. "And this means in the space race as well."

The big smiles on the faces of the local AAUW women who flanked Mrs. Hart, showed they approved of all she said.

Mrs. Hart has girls who are 15, 14, 6 and 5. The boys are '2, 11, 10 and 8.

As far as Senator Hart and the Hart boys are concerned, there have been no public statements.

However, it should be safe to say, that in the Hart household, it is not exactly a "man's world."

An article by Mrs. Hart, entitled "Women in Space," will be featured in Town and Country magazine in an upcoming issue.

MRS. HART is a streamlined 5-6, 118 pounds with short, blondish brown hair cut like an Olympic swimmer.

Once you see her, you have no doubts that she passed those rigorous physical tests.

She wears one of those complicated-looking watches that you immediately identify with pilots.

Mrs. Hart has been a licensed pilot for 19 years. She owns and flies a twin-engine six-passenger Aero-Commander 500A. However, on her trip to California, she left the flying to commercial airlines.

She is a native of Detroit, but now, of course, the Harts live in Washington, D.C.

HOW DO YOU SAY "Thank You" in every language, please, to Mrs. Andre (Mops) Roegiers who organized the Trick or Treat for U.N.I.C.E.F. (the United Nations Children's Fund) in the Orinda area on Halloween night. . . .

"Those pennies, nickels and dimes that plumped the well-known orange and black milk cartons mean new hope to many millions of children and mothers in many parts of the world" says the attractive brunette Briton who was born in London and speaks with a crisp cut to her King's English.

The lady who wears the rakish nickname of "Hops" with such aplomb (her real name is Ninette) knows first-hand the ravages of war, having lived through World War II bombings of London. It was here she met her handsome Belgian husband, Andre'.

AN AVID supporter of the American Field Service program, Mops served as that group's treasurer, is a supporter of Orinda Art Center, Friends of the Orinda Library, the Humanities program at Miramonte, the San Francisco Symphony Association and an active member of the Orinda Council for Civic Unity.

She is the mother of three. Nayda is a junior at U.C. who copped a scholarship in art. Anthony ("Tony") is also an art enthusiast and talent who is now majoring in journalism at Diablo Valley College. He rates as mate for the local Orinda Community Church-sponsored Sea Scouts.

Annette is a fifth grader at Sleepy Hollow School who will likely follow suit and turn up with more art talent.

Moraga Memo

By JANE PUTNAM

From Way Out on a Soapbox . . .

MAYOR OF MORAGA, if there were one running in Tuesday's election, would win by a landslide (a muddy word in these parts) if he'd run on this platform: a chicken for every barbecue pit; a power mower for every lawn; an embroidered dragon for every shirt pocket; a sports car (his) and station wagon (hers) for every garage; and a reprieve for every Den Mother.

Everyone is coming out for or against Bay Area Rapid Transit, so we should say SOMETHING. Like: "Millions for BART, but not a bus for Moraga." No? We don't object to $792,000,000 for speedier transit; but is a l'il ole bus in and out of Moraga too much to ask? It is? A horse and buggy, perhaps?

Okay then, a Bay Area Rapid Tandem?

EVESDROPPING at a recent luncheon-fashion show at Diablo Country Club I overheard a status conversation between two women: one, a young society matron; the other, a working girl. Society: "I have to see my psychiatrist in Lafayette once a week for $25 an hour." Working girl: "I got the same treatment once a week—free." "How?" "I cry."

Lois Nelson was jotting down notes at one table at the soiree, given by Muir and Jasmine branches of the Children's Hospital of the East Bay. Perhaps Lois was noting the number of the "morning light" mink, full length coat being modeled, what with Christmas around the corner, and all. The swank S.F. fur salon furnishing the meny minks supplied 600 pads and papers for this purpose—599 doodles resulted.

"BOUTIQUE DE MORAGA," Moraga Parents' Club's fashion show-lunch geared pour les Mesdames de Moraga will be tomorrow at noon at Mike Lynn's, Orinda crossroads. Fashions will be from the Little Daisy of Lafayette, Virginia Hammond of Orinda and Imports by Haz'l.

Commentators will be Mrs. Charles Rockwell and Mrs. Henry Newhall. Brother Robert, one of the six members of the staff of the Christian Brothers, residing in the former Rheem estate, tells a story about opera star Salvatore Baccaloni. Baccaloni hated music as a young student at the Christian Brothers' school near Rome. One of the brothers used to grab him by the collar when he was trying to sneak home after the ordinary lessons were over. Baccaloni owes his career to this brother, Brother Robert says that Baccaloni says. Baccaloni is in "The Pigeon Who Took Rome" this week at the Rheem. And Brother Robert beats the best P.R. man!

FACES AND PLACES. To do our bit for national defense, we camouflaged The Facts about "Pore Bill's" tour of duty in last week's column. With the Cuban crisis somewhat tamed, it is safe to report that it was U.S. Army Lt. Col. William Henderson who returned to wife Dodie and their Pimintel Court Home after 14 months in Korea. The Soviet Union may as well know, too, that Lt. Col. Henderson didn't return a moment too soon. He makes the BEST Christmas cookies in the valley.

"MELE KALIKIMAKA"—is what it'll be for the first 35 who sign up for the Diablo Are Hawaiian Holiday Tour December 23-30. The family tour will be escorted by Bill and Dorothy Worden, their son, Bill, 20, and daughter Sharon, 13.

HALLOWEEN PARADE at Donald L. Rheem School was delightful. The original costumes were bedazzling under a warm November sun. One of the treats of having a split-level family is being able to return to the parade, and having your son the skeeriest skeleton in kindergarten.

CAT WEEK INTERNATIONAL starts Sunday. So be kind to the cat in your life—be it feline or female.

BIG DEAL is completed as Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rolphe trade in their 1906 Cadillac for a new '63 at Miller Olds-Cadillac in Walnut Creek. Sun photo.

Owner 'Trades In' 1906 Cadillac On Latest Model

Car owners who trade in the family buggy when the ash trays are full should take a few pointers from Ben Rolphe of San Leandro.

Rolphe "traded in" his 1906 Cadillac on a 1963 Sedan De Ville in Walnut Creek Monday.

And the 57-year-old one-cylinder Model "M" brought $3500 on its $7800 1963 counterpart.

Which is not unusual when you consider that the '63, for all its power and glamour, doesn't even have a "mother-in-law seat."

No, Rolphe told The Sun, the mother-in-law seat doesn't eject the nice lady from the car at top speed. It's just that when you put up the top on the '06, mother-in-law is left out in the cold.

Which might be worth $3500 to some people.

Rolphe purchased the rare model "M" from Peter Bechtel (of the Bechtels) of Santa Rosa some time ago.

An antique car collector and member of the Bay Area Horseless Carriage Club, Rolphe cautioned that the high price the car brought was due primarily to cost of restoration and reconditioning he undertook.

Strictly speaking, the '06 was not traded in. It was purchased from Rolphe by Fred Redman, assistant sales manager at the local agency.

Rolphe applied Redman's payment on the new car which he'll take to a Shrine convention in Reno next week. "I loved the 'M'," Rolphe said, "but 30 mph just isn't fast enough for the trip."

Redman, whose new-old Cadillac will be on display at the agency for several weeks, plans to join the Horseless Carriage Club.

Rolphe told The Sun to call for antique clothing (required by the club) for Redman and his wife.

And mother-in-law.

KNOX has supported measures to upgrade teacher credentials, to raise the quality of instructors and instruction. He supported appropriations for school construction.

YOUR ASSEMBLYMAN understands that there is a direct relationship between financial support and the quality of education your child receives. The growth of our school population has strained the resources of our school districts.

KNOX will continue to devote his energies to help fill the critical needs which exist for the development of new state and local financial programs to relieve property owners of their heavy tax burdens.

YOUR ASSEMBLYMAN believes that the present system of statewide elementary textbook adoptions through competitive bidding by independent book publishers balanced against the costs of state production will bring us the best books at low cost and, where it is desirable, will provide for the adoption of more than one text for a subject area.

KNOX says we must redouble our efforts to attract competent teachers and provide the necessary conditions to keep them in this vital profession.

KNOX will continue to oppose hysteria-bred indoctrination in our public schools.

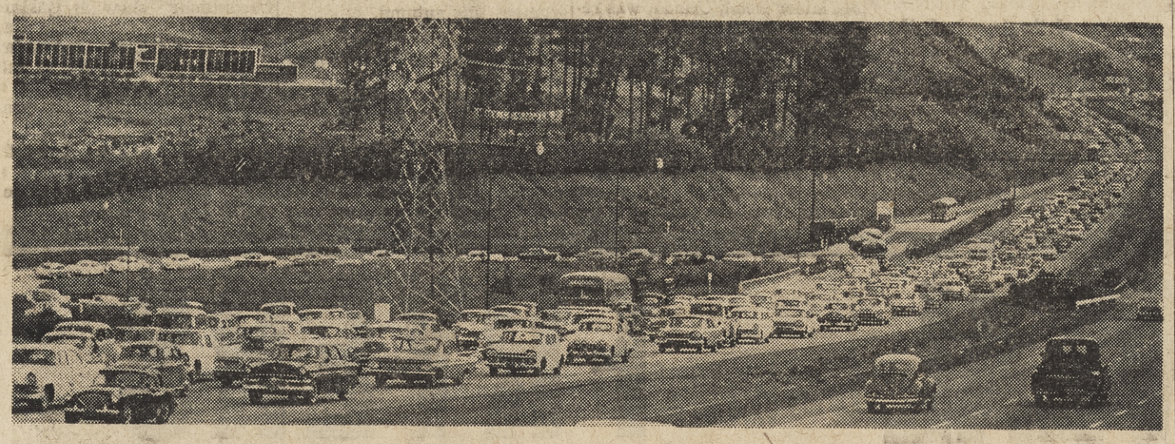
Transit Can End This



Voters Decide Tuesday; Here Is the Proposal

Exactly what hangs in the bargain when you, the voter, vote on Proposition "A," the Bay Area Rapid Transit Bond Issue, next Tuesday? Exactly what are you voting for — or against?

The Bay Area Rapid Transit District, which now includes Alameda, Contra Costa and San Francisco counties, proposes to build approximately 75 miles of supported double rails through the three counties.

These include 16 miles of subways and tunnels, 31 miles of aerial lines, 24 miles of exclusively BARTD-used surface lines, and a 4-mile underwater trans-bay tube connecting San Francisco and Oakland.

ON THESE RAILS will roll electrically-powered trains of modern design, automatically controlled for safety and service at top speeds of 70 mph. Average speeds, including station stops, are estimated at 50

On the eastern side of the bay, three lines will branch outward from Oakland, to Richmond, Fremont, and Concord.

THE CONCORD LINE will pass through Orinda, Lafayette, Walnut Creek and Pleasant Hill. There will be stations with parking in each of these cities, in addition to 33 other stations throughout the system.

Estimated travel time to the Oakland terminal of the tube is, from Concord, 25 minutes; Pleasant Hill, 21; Walnut Creek, 18; Lafayette, 16; Orinda, 10.

Travel time from this point to San Francisco is estimated at an additional 8 minutes.

During off-peak hours, train intervals would not exceed 15 minutes.

Each line will have a peak carrying capacity of 30,000 passengers per hour in each direction—with a guaranteed seat for each passenger.

Fares would be competitive with other forms of travel.

FOR EXAMPLE, it will cost an estimated 70 cents to travel from Walnut Creek to San Francisco, 55 cents from Orinda.

Fares to 11th Street in Oakland are estimated at 25 cents less, down to a minimum 25-cent fare.

Commuters will get a discount comparable to that offered by existing bus lines, according to district plans.

THE TIME-TABLE for the system calls for construction from January 1, 1964 to July 1, 1971. Some trains would be in operation by 1966.

The tube is to be completed by 1968. Major operation is scheduled for 1971.

CAPITAL COSTS for the system are estimated at $792 million. These would be financed by the general obligation bonds which you will vote on Tuesday. Bonds will be sold to pay for construction costs over a 7½ year period, and amortized over a 37-year period.

Cost estimates make allowance for possible inflation. The $132 million trans-bay tube will be financed by surplus tolls on the Bay Bridge.

The California Toll Bridge Authority will also initially finance the $40 million cost of tube approaches, to be paid out of district operating revenue.

Operating revenues will finance directly purchase of $71 million in rolling stock, in addition to paying system operating and maintenance costs. Ten million dollars of this would be advanced from the sale of general obligation bonds and subsequently repaid from first revenue bond sales in 1966.

TAX COSTS to property owners are based on a maximum 67 cents per $100 assessed valuation in fiscal year 1971-72.

For example, costs to the owner of a $16,000 home, assessed at $4000, would be $5.60 annually in '63-'64, $24.70 in '68-'69, and, when the system was in full operation, $26.90.

The district is governed by a board of directors, apportioned according to population in the district, and appointed by county boards of supervisors and mayors.

Provisions have been made for other Bay Area counties to join the district at a later date.

We Recommend Transit; Here Are Pros and Cons

The Sun recommends a "yes" vote on Proposition "A," the Bay Area Rapid Transit Bond Issue. We have recommended such a vote editorially for the past several weeks. We recommend it today. (See Editorial Page.)

Debate on the proposition has been long and it has been loud. But no single argument, nor group of arguments, has been advanced against the Rapid Transit proposal sufficient to justify a "no" vote next Tuesday.

The central county area, and its transportation needs, are growing at a tremendous rate. The basic problem posed is a simple one: we must plan and provide for this growth before we become the victims—not the beneficiaries—of it.

A "yes" vote for Rapid Transit is a step in the right direction.

The Sun has made its decision. To help you make yours we have listed below the principal arguments and area organizations for and against the proposition.

The "pro" and "con" arguments have been provided by the Voters' Service Program of the combined Leagues of Women Voters of the Bay Area, an independent, non-partisan organization which has studied the proposal for over two years.

The arguments and opinions presented, it should be pointed out, are not facts. They are the principal CONTENTIONS which have been made on both sides of the transit question.

The lists of organizations are our own compilations, and have no DIRECT connection with the pro and con arguments below them.

Pro—

ORGANIZATIONS endorsing Proposition "A" include the Contra Costa County Taxpayers' Association, the Eastbay and San Francisco Chapters of the National Safety Council, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, the Commonwealth Club of California, the City of Walnut Creek, the Lafayette Association, the Orinda Association, Citizens For Rapid Transit, the Bay Area Leagues of Women Voters, the Concord-Diablo Valley League of Women Poters and the Building Trades and Construction Councils of San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa Counties.

PRINCIPAL ARGUMENTS and opinions favoring transit:

1. The geographical character of the Bay Area limits the number of paths of movement and limits cultural and economic growth.

2. In the next 40 years our population will double to 8 million. Only an efficient transporattion system can handle this number of people. More highways are not the answer.

3. Rapid Transit uses only a fraction of the space of a modern freeway. Each 2-track rapid transit line will have a seated carrying capacity equivalent to 30 freeway lanes.

4. Rapid Transit will reduce traffic congestion on highways, city streets and parking facilities; it will improve travel for those who live beyond the initial service area of the System and for those who must use the freeways for peripheral travel.

5. It will relieve congestion in downtown areas by eliminating the auto as a necessity for commuting to work.

6. There is better use of land where transit lines can use the rights-of-way beside or in dividing strips on existing and future freeways.

7. Development of the transit system will tend to generate efficient and orderly patterns of land use and community development.

8. Surveys show that savings will be made through reductions in travel time, freight movements, accidents, insurance premiums, auto operating costs, parking charges, bridge tolls and traffic control costs.

9. A good Rapid Transit System with well-located stations tends to increase property values adjacent to the stations.

Con—

ORGANIZATIONS opposing Proposition "A" include Citizens Against Proposition "A" (represented locally by Stanford White and Mel Shine of Lafayette), the Antioch City Council, the Byron Chamber of Commerce, the Brentwood City Council, the Contra Costa Commuters Association, the Alameda County Taxpayers' Association, the Albany City Council, the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes (local chapters), and the board of directors of the Contra Costa County Farm Bureau.

PRINCIPAL ARGUMENTS and opinions opposing transit:

1. Comprehensive basic regional plans should be made before establishing a system.

2. It is uncertain whether enough auto riders will switch to rapid transit.

3. Many people fear that the distinctive and esthetic values of their communities will be destroyed by the effects of noise and the elevated structures.

4. It is undesirable to use the property tax to pay for commuter travel. Users should pay a larger share through higher fares. The general taxpayers should pay proportionately less. The cost is out of proportion to benefits . Can the taxpayer afford such a luxury?

5. Areas not served by Rapid Transit will have to pay taxes out of proportion to value received. Payment for construction should be adjusted so that communities served first pay their property tax first.

6. Revenue bonds rather than general obligation bonds should be the method of financing.

7. If the system is not self-supporting, how will it be subsidized?

8. Downtown San Francisco is the only area which will derive great benefit from a Rapid Transit System.

9. Rapid transit facilities to major cities will affect the interests of local business and professional people.

10. Autos will continue to attract the commuter because they offer the only true door-to-door service.

11. The BARTD Act subjects local government authority to the almost unbridled power of a 3-County governing board.

12. Once a county is "in" its residents can be forced to pay for something they do not want, because voters of other counties can cast enough votes to overrule the former.

OK Transit Bond, Leaders, Experts Urge Local Voters

A large number of prominent officials and citizens spoke out in favor of the Bay Area Rapid Transit proposal this week. Here are selections from the many statements forwarded to The Sun:

"Delay of the inevitable construction of rapid transit can only mean greater costs. . . . This is because every year of delay will mean a probable inflation of costs by $20-$25 million. . . . The November 6 vote is not a matter of rapid transit or nothing; vast transportation improvements must be made in the Bay Area. one way or another. . . ."

Stanley McCaffrey, president Bay Area Council

"Let me mention . . . the proposition supporting the three-county rapid transit plan. We who concern ourselves with growth problems throughout the State commend this to your careful and earnest consideration.

"It presents another opportunity for the voters to endorse long and painstaking public planning — planning which has been done to serve not only some of us—but the next five generations as well."

Robert B. Bradford, director State Dept. of Public Works

"Today, in the metropolitan Bay Area, a regional rapid transit system is the one major public facility that is needed more than any other to enable this metropolis to increase both its economic productivity and the freedom of choice of its citizens in terms of place of employment and place of residence.

"After all, these are the attributes which have made the Bay Area such a special area in which to live and work."

T. J. Kent, professor of city planning, University of California, and member, Berkeley City Council

"Some method or type of transportation must be found which will attract some of the commuter rush-hour traffic away from the freeways. The word 'attractive' is used in its literal meaning.

"Mass transportation must be attractive to the people it is designed to serve. This constitutes a challenge to our mass transit friends to think bold as well as think big.

"We are gratified to note that they are doing exactly that."

J. C. Womack, state highway engineer, California Division of Highways

"The whole country has its eyes on the Bay Area's Rapid Transit bond election. . . . It is obvious that a rail rapid transit system must be developed . . . buses cannot do the job alone."

C. M. Gilliss, executive director, Los Angeles Metropolitan Transit Authority and former director, State Department of Public Works

"Rapid transit is mandatory in order that the bay metropolis continue to function as a very special area in which to live and work."

Dr. F. E. Terman, provost Stanford University

Home Buyers Plan Meeting

The first general, public meeting of the Home Buyers Protective Association has been set for Wednesday, November 14 at 2 p.m. in the meeting room of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board,, 1343 Locust Street Wolnut Creek.

There will be several guest speakers, to be announced next week.

An election of officers will be held at a December meeting.

The executive and organizing board has stated the following goals for the association:

1) To initiate and support legislation protecting the home buyer.

2) To act as an information agency.

3) To provide legal assistance to association members.

Discussion at the November 14 meeting will be: "Pitfalls to be Avoided in Buying a Home."

All interested persons are invited to attend.

Coll Declares Endorsement of Rapid Transit

In a special statement made to The Sun late this week, Contra Costa County chairman of the board of supervisors, Thomas J. Coll, outlined the reasons for his endorsement of Proposition "A", the Rapid Transit proposal.

Here are excerpts from his statement:

"Personally, I have watched at the board of supervisors level the development of the Rapid Transit Plan. I consider that the Bay Area Rapid Transit Plan is sound from engineering, economic and financial standpoints.

"IT IS SOUND from a human standpoint, too, because it is the one bold step we can and must take to protect the Bay Area and to insure that population growth does not engulf us.

"From personal knowledge gained of the program over the past 10 years, I can tell you that Rapid Transit will benefit Contra Costa residents more than those in any other Bay Area community.

It will do so because it will save a standard of suburban living the Caldecott Tunnel has made possible.

"CONTRA COSTA, like all of the Bay Area, faces monumental population growth.

"By 1980, less than 20 years away, the county will grow to 750,000 persons.

"And by 2020 we will have five times the present population.

"These figures cry out for us to mount a lasting solution to congestion—the Bay Area Rapid Transit Plan.

"I will vote 'yes' on Proposition 'A'."

Nielsen Stand Against Transit Reiterated Here

Contra Costa County Supervisor Mel F. Nielsen this week reiterated his stand opposing Proposition "A", the rapid transit proposal.

Here are excerpts from his position as stated in an open letter to The Sun:

"My reason for voting 'No' on BARTD is substantially upheld by the attached memo to the district attorney showing that contrary to popular opinion, and contrary to your publicity on the subject, the vote we took on that fateful day in July had nothing to do with whether the people were to vote on the bond issue, but whether or not, we, as supervisors, approved the plans as presented by the BARTD at that particular time.

"I did not then, and I do not now, approve of a railroad line running from one point in Contra Costa County to another, in a straight line, with no feeder service, at a cost of over one and a half billions of dollars to the property owners.

"IF YOU have received your tax bill in the last few days, you know that we are already taxed to the hilt.

"To pay a price like this, and to indebt ourselves for a period of 37 years for a minority of people to ride the train to work is, to me, grossly unfair to the majority.

"The train is already an obsolete mode of transportation, and by the time the BARTD is operable in 1970, it will surely be out-dated.

SOME POINTS to be considered in the BARTD's elaborate publicity are that although they publicize a tax rate of 14 cents per hundred dollars valuation, their own table of taxes belies this.

"They also have elaborate signs, furnished by their citizens' committee, which say that we need help 'NOW.'

"The BARTD will not be operable until 1970, so the 'NOW' they speak of is in reality eight years from now.

"Actually we can get help now by investigating a good bus system with express lanes. . . ."

A Halloween firebomb, made by stuffing gasoline soaked rags inside a pumpkin, was hurled at the home of Dent Meradith, 180 Pleasant Valley Drive, Walnut Creek, just missing the sliding glass doors. No damage was done when the bomb started a fire outside the residence.

A metal ingot, used in connection with his work for a nuclear research company, was stolen from the parked car belonging to Edward Sullivan, outside his residence at 3219 Rohrer Drive, Lafayette. Value of the ingot was between $200 and $300.

A 10-dollar bill was stolen from his son's bedroom when a thief broke into the home of Robert Kimball, 3191 Diablo View Road over the weekend. Entry was made through another rear bedroom window.

Fred Wolf, of Alameda, reported to sheriff's deputies that both rear tires on his car parked on La Espiral in Orinda, were slashed sometime Monday evening.

A hungry thief ransacked the freezer belonging to Mrs. Margaret Mantini, 84 Cottage Lane, Walnut Creek, stealing large quantities of food while Mrs. Mantini was in the hospital having a baby.

Clothing including a cashmere lady's coat and a man's topcoat, were also stolen, deputies said.

TAXPAYERS

urge you to vote

YES on A

rapid transit

Because Rapid Transit will send Real Estate values UP: halt the building of unnecessary freeways (that would cost 4 times as much and would erode the tax base). Remember how the Caldecott Tunnel boosted real estate values.

LABOR

urges you to vote

YES on A

rapid transit

Because Rapid Transit lets a man live where he wants to; work where he wants to; and have fast, safe, reliable transportation. (And Area!) because it will create 10 years worth of jobs in the Bay

WOMEN

urge you to vote

YES on A

rapid transit

Because Rapid Transit will make shopping, going to work or visiting—comfortable, safe and quick. Because it will make more space to park; more space to drive. Because their husbands will have to spend less time getting to work—and getting home! Because it will make life easier and safer.

COMMUTERS

urge you to vote

YES on A

rapid transit

Because they'll be able to get from Concord to Oakland in 25 minutes—from Oakland to San Francisco in another 8 minutes. Because their travel times will be reliable — not subject to the whims of weather or somebody else's flat tire. Because if they continue to drive a car, they'll find the freeway has become congestion-free!

BUSINESS

urges you to vote

YES on A

rapid transit

Because the life of business is people—and people have to be able to get to business in order to do business. Because the highway system is slowly clogging. Because the least expensive way and most efficient way to expand it is by Rapid Transit, Proposition A.

BROWN, NIXON and your OWN COMMON SENSE TELL YOU to vote

YES on 'A'

Because our traffic congestion problem has to be solved right away. Because more freeways and parking lots are the most expensive ways to solve it. Because the least expensive way is Rapid Transit — Proposition A — 75 miles of high-speed transportation throughout the three counties, that will reduce traffic by half, free the freeways and let people ride comfortably and SAFELY to work, to shop or to visit throughout the Bay Area.

Health Dept. Wins Award For Air Pollution Study

A certificate of appreciation from the U.S. Public Health Service has been awarded to the Contra Costa County Health Department for its role the past four years in collecting information on the problem of air pollution, according to Dr. Glen Kent, county chief assistant health officer.

"There is no doubt that air pollution is a problem affecting the lives and well-being of all Contra Costa County residents. We must recognize air pollution as the serious economic and health hazard that it is. The substances contained in smog can destroy vegetation, discolor buildings, soil clothes, reduce visibility, lower property values and recently they have been associated with many chronic diseases," Dr. Kent said.

In accepting the award for the health department, Dr. Kent added that "the air we breathe must be carefully examined if we are to live and work in an environment which is pleasant and healthful. We are proud to participate in this national program to help reduce the ever increasing smog problem."

The Contra Costa County Health Department is one of 250 stations participating in the National Air Sampling Network of the Public Health Service. Samples of pollutants collected in this program are sent to the Public Health Service's Robert A. Taft Sanitary Engineering Center in Cincinnati, Ohio, for analysis. The data obtained helps to increase our understanding of the numerous problems caused by air pollution.

Going Broke Everywhere . . .

How many gas stations does our area need?

Seventy? Eighty? One hundred? Twice that number?

Applications for new gas stations are rolling in as regular as clockwork, while the gas stations already built are going bust or just making out.

On what basis does a public body turn down a gas station, as long as it complies with building codes, without violating the principle of free enterprise?

IF YOU WERE a jeweler thinking of locating here, you would inquire how jewelers are doing. If they are not doing well, due to a surplus of numbers, you would probably move on to another area.

This is apparently not the case with the oil companies when they begin considering where to locate their next gas station.

The principle of free enterprise involves the principle of survival of the fittest, even these days.

But the oil companies apparently are not concerned about this, as the liability of a weak gas station here and there does in no way worry them, and its presence evidently has something to do with "prestige" and "advertising."

SO, ON THE local level, the oil companies are paying little heed to the "survival of the fittest" rule, a corollary of "free enterprise." They can always get new operators.

However, survival and prosperity for the big company on the national level may appear to require continuous construction of neat but money-losing gas stations everywhere, and incidentally in our own area.

The slogan "Our service stations are everywhere" may impress prospective credit card holders and others.

As a result, the small operators—who live here with their families—struggle along—watching the swift succession of new stations—and the further tightening of the economic belt. Stations continuously change hands.

WALNUT CREEK has more than 30 stations within its limits now, and just outside the city limits on Geary Road are five gas stations at one intersection. Impossible? Take a look.

Application has been made for Gas Station No. 22 in Lafayette, and Gas Station No. 10 is being considered for Orinda.

That is almost 70 gas stations in three areas alone.

Pleasant Hill, Alamo and Danville are also loaded with them. Surprisingly an application was turned down in Alamo recently.

GENERALLY, our residents are against this rash of additional gas stations.

The Sun has for some time been campaigning against them, warning that the oil companies' policies may force governmental action on one level or another.

A footnote on free enterprise: There are many cigarettes on the market, but only certain companies are making them. And it appears that just because a station has a different name is small reason to believe it belongs to a different company from its competitor a few miles away.

Perhaps that phrase "free enterprise" should be looked at more carefully before local residents decide that unlimited construction of local gas stations is inevitable.

Strangulation Can Be Avoided

Organizations which have spoken against the proposed bond issue for three-county rapid transit have allowed short-term, narrow-visioned considerations to blot out the really important facts.

Questions remain concerning commuter fares, bus feeder service, final adjustment of some routes, the cost of final arrangements for financing, Contra Costa representation on the transit board, and so forth.

But those who use these points as anti-transit material are those who believe: 1. Some other plan in future years will solve the problems of high cost and will perform the job; or 2, rapid transit is merely a convenience, and the secondary considerations are enough to cancel out the rest.

IN THE FIRST instance, no other plan has been proposed by anyone which will tackle the enormous job of eliminating the traffic strangulation which is already affecting the Bay Area, and which can mean economic stagnation in comparison with the capabilities of this amazing metropolitan area.

Such strangulation may not mean taxes such as will come with the passage of rapid transit—but it will mean lower property values, blight areas, and lowered community morale which comes whenever desperate, primary problems are not solved.

Without rapid transit, the Bay Area cannot continue to be the prosperous linkage of big cities, small cities and town which is now developing.

Should it fail, people will later learn that extra bus lanes and such palliatives will not do the job, and another similar plan will eventually be proposed. It will cost more—will come much later—will involve much more disruption of our present communities—will mean that years of transit service will be lost for our current generations.

HIGHWAY ENGINEERS say rapid transit is a must So do most responsible groups which have in mind the consequences of leaving a truly mighty problem to the auto and bus, alone.

It will take several years to build the new transit system. Just think of how much greater the local problem of transportation has become in the past several years, even with the new highways!

Our traffic problem is only in its infancy.

Face that fact that any solution that will really do the job will be expensive and the sooner arrived at, the cheaper.

Now is the moment to vote for rapid transit.

Have a Shot!

Give some serious thought about the possibility that a flu shot may save you much discomfort, loss of time away from your work or household duties.

The cold weather is drawing near, and you should act without delay, especially if you are in your forties or older, and have been feeling run down lately.

Shots are especially recommended for pregnant women, the chronically ill, cardio-vascular and pulmonary patients.

There is talk now about the possibility of more Asian flu this winter—the type which caused so much trouble a few years ago.

The U.S. Public Health Service has also thrown its weight to inform the public about the danger of flu and the inoculation which can prevent it in the individual.

A Case of Cold Turkey-- Unite to Save the Bird!

By MARIE MONAHAN

IS IT AGREED, everyone, we're living too high on the hog?

What I mean is, have you had a turkey lately?

With November wooing us with wondrous Thanksgiving plans, does it not sadden you that the glorious fowl, the star feature of the Feast Day, has somewhat lost his prominent place on the Pilgrim's Day perch?

When I heard two lady shoppers clucking over how common Old Tom had become in the past few years (they were searching for new game for the holiday table), I felt it was almost sacrilegious.

Then I realized they were right.

THAT BEATIFIC bird of yesterday's lace-covered tables has been demoted to the daily dinner table, has suddenly flown his banquet roost to be relegated to the Family Budget Monthly Menu Plan.

(Turkey soup, a la king, a-la casserole, a la ad infinitum.

THE semi-annual mouth-watering fragrance which used to waft tantalizing through the whole house while Turkey-lurkey roasted long & lovingly in the oven has now turned into a not-uncommon scent that spurs the sprouts to put dibbsies on the drumsticks. (The rare wishbone is now old-hat.)

OR more likely to protest—"Not turkey AGAIN?"

The popularity in price & protein value & a profuse supply of this special species of poultry now poses a problem for all of us who aim to preserve the traditional menu.

It's time for all good women to come to the aid of The Turkey.

We shall be heard. Let's save the bird!

(Not to mention ourselves.)

WHAT holiday housewife or hostess wants to spend days preparing for the ritual spread only to have family & guests sit down with jaundiced eye & jaded appetite? Because we're all living too high on the hog. I mean, the bird.

Cold turkey sandwiches for a midnight-snack . . . or a schoolboy's lunchbag!

Cold turkey for the poker club cronies or the bridge-table crowd . . .

BETTER we bypass all these than lose the mainstay of the Thanksgiving Dinner.

Take away the turkey & what have we got!

We might as well all go off on a Fourth of July picnic with sweet rolls, gelatin salads, olives, celery, sweet pickles & pies.

LET'S RALLY around the kitchen, mothers!

Put the skids on the kids. Tighten their belts. Let 'em eat hotdogs & hamburgers till they're SICK of 'em. Try 'em on hearts, livers & lights.

Don't even LOOK at a chicken till November has come & gone . . .

All Thanksgiving Table Traditionalists are asked to unite! We haven't much time.

Remember our motto—"Bird Preferred!"

DENT
Dear Editor:

This thing about Doctor Dent and the Mt. Diablo School District scares me.

Do we, as one of my friends implied the other day, live in a nazi state? Are people in high office expected to operate in some kind of sterile atmosphere in which no opinion, no mistake, no enthusiasm is allowed?

All I know about the Mt. Diablo School District is this: it operates on a limited budget with inadequate physical facilities. Yet, my children are getting a good education in a free atmosphere.

How Doctor Dent and the able people he seems to attract accomplish this, I do not know.

If he chooses to endorse Doctor Richardson, I am for him.

If the district attorney's office cares to investigate further I expect it would come up with far more flagrant misuses of funds than the endorsement of an able man for public office.

Letters to The Editor

MAIL
Dear Editor,

I just finished reading two articles on the editorial page of the October 19 Sun. The one written by Marie Monahan was so good I'd like to have five or six copies of it to spread around.

The second, by George Colburn, was to me, and I imagine will be to the many hard-working and conscientious postal workers of this area, very offensive.

There is no group of employes in this whole country that put out such efficient service as the post office workers do.

You might check and see how their wages compare with private industry and I'm sure that when workers in private industry through the system of collective bargaining, which is denied governmental employees, get a raise in wages the public pays this extra cost of goods they produce with never a murmur.

People who know anything about the subject know that . . . the real drain on the (post office) budget is not money paid as wages for value received, but the large subsidies to common carriers, trains, airplanes and ships.

Also there is a heavy loss on second and third class mail. which are subsidies to newspapers, magazines and advertising matter.

Mr. Colburn is complaining at the raise in postal rates. Has he any idea what it would cost to mail any of these things if a private company operated the mail service?

Now, to return to that dirty crack about "are the postal workers really worth it?" . . . I am sure, Mr. Colburn, that it was no serious career employee who was so responsible for your damaged packages.

I'm sure you can get redress on them if they were insured. You might try getting in touch with the regional officer in San Francisco for further information.

GERTRUDE SADLER

BALDWIN
Dear Editor:

In a recent Sun a correspondent distinguished himself with a real smear by wich he implied that Rep. John Baldwin's achievement of an unblemished voting record was easy and anyone could do that.

How could the writer be unaware of his Representative's unending activities as a high-ranking member of many important House committees; of the many bills and amendments he has introduced and built up support for, and which have often been passed; of the endless hours spent in committee work; of the confidence placed in him by the House when appointing him to the conferences which must iron out the differences between House and Senate; of the special courtesties extended to him by the President; and in addition to all these, his personal attention to what ever individual matters his constituents consult him about.

Men like Rep. Baldwin and Senator Kuchel call for support at the polls regardless of party lines because I believe that their loyalty to the people comes before that of party interests.

Staff Corner

Don't Knock Opportunity Twice, Dad!

By WALT WRIGHT

I am an opportunist. (My mother—like George Colburn's of him—thinks I'm a nice guy, but I know she's wrong.) So this week I got my come-uppance, as an opportunist should.

I knew that I had a staff corner coming up. But I had something else coming up, too. A baby.

And, black Machiavel that I am, I decided to capitalize on the blessed event. In short, I had a made-to-order staff corner topic.

Then, while I was still counting on the hatch, I chickened.

BECAUSE when Katherine Ann Wright came wailing into the world last week, I suddenly realized that everything I could possibly say of her, of her mother, and of myself was all so . . . so typical.

Typical, of example, was the patience, and then the calm, and then the simple courage my wife showed when the child was aborning.

Don't misunderstand; at the time this was a miracle to me; she had such strength! But viewed rationally, opportunistically, it was an every day, garden-variety miracle.

Now, even though I am an opportunist, I am also typical. (I'm so typical I cried at my own wedding . . . which may be going a little too far, especially for an opportunist who figures he should cry when it's to his advantage.)

So I, like every other guy who has been at bedside at such a time, watched my wife and felt by own absolute uselessness. Hers was a small painful world, and she was alone in it, a typically wonderful woman.

THE CHILD, even I must admit, was not really typical.

I say this advisedly. I have argued the case with every other father I saw at the hospital.

Katherine Ann is without doubt the most beautiful and most intelligent child born in recent centuries.

Her eyes, which glow with a certain knowing look, intend to be brown. She has luxurious brown hair which doesn't quite reach half-way down her back. (In fact, her hair doesn't quite reach half-way down her neck — but no matter, it is luxurious.)

She has shapely limbs which she waves with great vigor.

And certainly not typical is her voice. I would class it as mezzo-alto, a bit untrained, but with more power than anything west of Ethel Merman.

BUT EVEN though we have been blessed with an extremely exceptional child, the rest is typical.

Typically, like other fathers, I distributed small quantities of tobacco to celebrate the occasion. (The fact that I gave out cigarettes instead of cigars has no bearing . . . and is certainly justifiable on my salary . . . which I still receive . . . I think.)

Typically, when Katherine seemed disturbed for no immediately apparent reasons, I turned to the works of experts for advice.

(To hold true to form, I realize, I should have consulted the learned Spock. But it is no reflection on my own typicallity that my father-in-law, who is kind of a card, supplied me with an 1849 edition of "A Practical Compendium of Midwifery," by the late Robert Gooch, M.D. And I warn anyone so rash as to consult it that the book—for the layman at least — is a rather grisly tome.)

AND, TYPICALLY, the expert left off just where I needed him most.

The good Doctor Gooch informs me on page 293 that "As soon as the child is born, the function of respiration most commonly begins, the child gasps, inflates its lungs, and cries."

It is clear that the child cries.

But when, Dr. Gooch, does she stop?

Something did happen which almost brought me out of this morass of the average. My wife decided to send the new laundry to a diaper service, which is not in itself unusual.

But, on the day of this writing, I was sure the unusual had occurred.

THIS AFTERNOON, my wife carefully placed a huge bundle of the basic garments on the front porch to be picked up by the service.

Then, catastrophe! Arriving home for dinner, I knew at a glance that a hurricane, a cyclone had struck.

The landscape was snowed with squares of white gauze. What an item!

I began to compose . . .

Under The Sun

Pass the Crystal Ball: It's Proposition Time

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

If I sound rather dazed today, it's because I am.

I've been studying the 26 ballot measures that will appear on next Tuesday's ballot. Norm Colby, Sun associate editor, has been digging for weeks into piles of material on the propositions. Last night I spent five hours analyzing this "problem." Meanwhile, we have discussed some of the propositions with public officials and candidates, read the official arguments and perused stories and endorsements printed in the press.

How one group does it

We have always found the "debates" of the Commonwealth Club of San Francisco an excellent source of material. The Club assigns each proposition to a specific "section."

For example, the two propositions on increasing compensation of the legislators were each researched by members of the Legislation and Elections Section and the Governmental Finance Section. Each section hears evidence on both sides at a meeting and then members of the section vote. The section's vote and arguments are printed and distributed to the entire membership. Then, the entire membership votes on each proposition.

Another excellent source of information is the "Pro and Con" material issued by the League of Women Voters of California. The League recommends, but not on all the propositions.

What others say

We then look at recommendations of the State Chamber of Commerce, AFL-CIO, other organizations, various newspapers, in addition to the Commonwealth Club and League of Women Voters. You will find The Sun's recommendations, along with other endorsements in tabular form in the first section.

In past editorials, The Sun has explained its recommendations on the major propositions, as well as the candidates.

Does your vote count?

Do you know that Truman beat Dewey by one vote per precinct in California and Ohio?

That Woodrow Wilson won by one vote per precinct in California to beat Charles Evans Hughes? And, of course, that Nixon lost to JFK two years ago by a few strategic votes.

Yes, your one vote counts.

SOUTH TRAIL
Dear Editor:

You write "the eight families on South Trail returned to their homes.

On Monday, October 29, there are only four families in residence; half of the South Trail homeowners are still unable to move back due to extensive storm damage. In fact, it will be several months before the hardest hit homes will be livable.

May we take this opportunity to express our most sincere thanks to the Red Cross, the Lions Club who donated funds to the Red Cross, and to the many, many individuals who offered and gave help to families unable to return to their homes.

It has been heartwarming and vastly uplifting to see the generous way in which people have sacrificed for others in this emergency.

We wish the same could be said of public utilities, tax-supported agencies and people in their "official" capacities.

For example, although the PG&E men assigned to South Trail worked with great efficiency and concern for the people without utilities, the Pacific Gas and Electric Company management is far from considering the company a "public service" in the true sense of these words.

They refused to begin repairs for a week after the storm, then were unwilling to speed operations through the use of overtime or extra crews.

Telephone service? Sometime this third week, we hope.

MR. AND MRS. G. PARKS

BALDWIN
Dear Editor:

If you can't come up with any better reasons for electing a man to the U.S. Congress, then I would suggest that you not mention who you would vote for.

To be specific, in the October 5, 1962, issue of your paper you supported the incumbent, John Baldwin, over Mr. Weidner.

This is your right but I think you owe to the readers of your paper to show some reason other than he always is on the job and he is senior to others.

It is well and good for a man to be at work every day but of more interest is what is the man doing at the job? You give no indication that Baldwin is voting for the majority of his district; you don't mention whether you thing he is doing a good job or not.

All you say is that he is there.

He isn't a leader in Congress but he is there.

I think it is more important to elect men who are going to represent their electors, or, if not, elect men who will serve this country so that it will progress and advance, not men who don't seem to do anything.

I have studied the issues and the men and I personally think Mr. Weidner is the man I want to represent me.

I think you should give some more information about the job the present man is doing rather than the fact that he is always there and has been for a long time.

GAS STATION
Dear Editor:

All we DON'T need is another gas station in Lafayette.

The owners of the properties must have lots in common with the property owners who had the beautiful oak tree removed across from the post office.

The civic-minded and beauty-concious Mr. Van Allen and others did their part—now how about the county planning commission and the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce seeing their duty and doing it!

"Whirling Winds Bring Didie Dervish . . .

"DOGS, EH?"

Cut off in mid-headline, I turned to my neighbor, who was calmly surveying the wreckage from his side of the fence. "Dogs got to the dipes, eh?" he said.

"You'll get used to it," he continued patronizingly. "Around here it's pretty typical."

So you see, nothing unique, nothing exceptional had happened. And I decided on the spot that I would not burden readers with "typical" matters they knew at first hand.

THEN HOW is it that this appears? Well, just as my neighbor departed, my wife came upon the scene.

She is a gentle lass, so she said something very like "gracious goodness how did this happen, will you please pick them all up."

I explained that I would love to, except that it was suddenly terrifically important that I go back to the office and write my staff corner.

And I slunk off into the night.

Trojans Nip Dons, 7-6

By DAVE ANDERSON

Del Valle will be out to capture its third straight win in Foothill Athletic League play when they lock horns with the Piedmont Highlanders tonight at Acalanes.

They hope to duplicate their feat of last week on the same gridiron, when they put a damper on Acalanes' homecoming with a come-from-behind 7-6 victory over the Dons.

The Trojans can expect more of the same rough play tonight, as Piedmont boasts another one of those strong teams that seem to abound in the FAL this year.

THE TROJANS were happy enough to come out on the long end of a 7-6 score at Lafayette, with the rival Dons and Trojans playing a hard-fought game that could have gone either way.

As it turned out, Acalanes gained 187 yards to Del Valle's 163, and out first-downed the visitors 10-8, but the Trojans moved the ball the one time they needed to and came up with that all-important extra point.

The first half ended scoreless, with a minor case of "fumbleitis" dominating play. The Dons received the opening kick-off, and marched 50 yards before Del Valle defensive halfback Bill O'Toole recovered a Don fumble on the Trojan 38.

Three plays later, Frank Colwell intercepted a Bob Kovats pass to give the Dons another crack at it. Acalanes kicked, then Del Valle tried to move.

Jim Christman, Trojan fullback, fumbled on his own 44, and Acalanes guard Jeff Davis recovered. Then Acalanes put on a sustained drive down to Del Valle's three-yard line where fullback Mike Hallock on a sweep around left end, let the ball squirt out of his hands where the alert O'Toole promptly pounced on the pigskin.

IN THE THIRD quarter, Acalanes took over after Del Valle was unable to move, and marched straight down the field, covering 65 yards in 16 plays with Don quarterback Tom Alexander getting important third down yardage on sneaks up the middle.

Alexander scored from one yard out, but Jon Van Loben Sels' kick was wide to the right in the extra point bid.

In the fourth period, Acalanes was driving again in Trojan territory when Del Valle guard Mike Valcke fell on a Don fumble on his own 36-yard line.

Kovats immediately lofted a 24-yard pass to O'Toole, sent Cliff Schroeder up the middle for seven yards, then O'Toole down the sidelines for a 30-yard gallop to put Del Valle on Acalanes' three-yard line.

Christman pushed over center for the six points.

Then on the dramatic extra point play with less than five minutes remaining to play, Mal Cameron pushed his way over a wall of blockers and tacklers alike for the margin of victory.

Coach Jerry Bellon of the Trojans praised the all-around play of O'Toole, lineman Dick Smith and Jim Christman, who played an outstanding defensive game.

Vikings Lose Again; CCC Tomorrow

Tomorrow night will find Diablo Valley College playing host to its sister college, Contra Costa in the Vikings annual homecoming football game on the Pleasant Hill High field.

Contra Costa has yet to be beaten and is tied with Foothill College for first place in the Golden Gate standings. The kickoff is set for 8 p.m.

Vikings now sport an 0-3 record in Golden Gate Conference play and are 0-4-1 over all.

Unable to produce any type of defense to stop Oakland City College quarterback Calvin Huey, the Vikings were defeated last Friday afternoon, 26-0. The win was the first for Oakland.

Against Oakland, the Vikings were unable to move the ball. D.V.C. was only able to cross the 50-yard line twice during the entire game.

OAKLAND WAS blessed with a stubborn defense as they gave the Vikings a total of 70 yards for the entire game, 33 yards rushing and 37 yards passing. The Vikings gained only four yards rushing in the second half.

The T-Birds' first score came with 7:08 left in the first half.

The third quarter was 15 minutes of horror for the Vikings as Oakland scored 20 points within a span of five minutes.

The Vikings gave Oakland two touchdowns by fumbling deep in their own territory.

PH Recreation Basketball Is Now Organizing

An organizational meeting for the Pleasant Hill Recreation District's Church League will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the YMCA building behind the Co-op.

Managers of high school and adult teams are asked to attend.

It's still not too late to join either the A or B adult recreation leagues either, district officials say.

Any team manager with $35 can join by going to College Park High School gym (A league) or Pleasant Hill High School gym (B league) next Monday night between 7 and 10.

Any individual who would like to play should show up in gym clothes that night, also.

The gyms will be open for practice those nights.

The A and B leagues will open the last week in November with two rounds of seven games each.

Teams entered in the Pleasant Hill leagues will be asked to refrain from playing in other leagues that interfere with their schedule in Pleasant Hill.

CCD Roundup

Rams Win Again, 14-6 Over Pitt; Falcons Can't Score, Lose, 7-0

The Pleasant Hill running attack, building momentum like a runaway snowball, rolled over the Pittsburg Pirates last Friday night, 14-6, accounting for the Buccaneers' initial loss in Contra Costa Division - DVAL play. Pitt was the undefeated league champ last year.

The College Park Falcons were unsuccessful in their bid to garner this first victory of the season, as they finally fell before the Clayton Valley Eagles, 7-0, in a game played last Friday afternoon at Clayton Valley.

The Rams, their running attack led by Dave Clark and Vic Mann, got on the scoreboard in the first quarter. After recovering a fumble on the Pitt 35-yard line, the Rams moved to the goal line with a series of line plays. John Dotson, Pleasant Hill quarterback, carried for the final five yards and the touchdown. The try for the extra point failed.

Taking the ensuing kickoff, Pitt mounted a drive that traversed the necessary 67 yards in 11 plays. Buc backs Ronnie Robinson, Dave Cardinelli and Charley McDonald bore the brunt of the attack on the drive. McDonald slammed into TD country from seven yards out to tie up the score.

THE RAMS moved ahead in the third quarter when they picked up a safety on the Pirates. After having halted a Ram drive on their own five-yard line, the Buccaneers were attempting to move the ball away from their own goal line. However, on third down, Cardinelli was trapped by Tim Conger and Bill Brown of the Rams for the two-pointer.

Pleasant Hill then wrapped the game up when Dave Clark, in a tremendous display of open field running, scampered 41 yards for the final score of the evening.

The Clayton Valley Eagles scored in the closing minutes via a 46-yard pass play from Dan Dominey to Clyde Mashore to provide the margin of their 7-0 victory over the College Park Falcons.

After having been thwarted in several earlier scoring drives, the Eagles found themselves with a fourth down at the Falcon 46-yard line. Going for broke, the Eagles elected to pass. Dan Dominey, rolling out to his right, found Mashore on the far sideline. Mashore, taking the 10-yard toss, sped down the sidelines for the big six-pointer. Mashore's kick was good for the PAT.

The Falcons' attempt to tie the ball game was cut short when Greg Ford, making his first appearance of the season for the Eagles, intercepted a long pass by Brian Hunt.

Earlier both teams had threatened, but both had been unable to come up with the right scoring combination.

THE FALCONS made their deepest penetration when they took the opening kickoff and moved to the Clayton Valley 20-yard marker before losing the ball on a fumble. Dick Larscheid, Bob Roberts and Hunt alternated line slants to account for the bulk of the yardage. Eagle John Housden recovered a fumble by Brian Hunt to frustrate the drive.

Clayton Valley, in turn, saw two drives deep into Falcon territory end via fumbles.

The game marked the third contest the Falcons have lost by the margin of a single touchdown.

While still seeking their first victory of the year, the Falcons have tied two non-league opponents, Skyline and Alhambra.

Only Mt. Diablo, who carved out a 19-0 victory, has been able to score more than single touchdowns against the stubborn Falcon defenders.

Thunderbirds Win Again; Battle for First Sunday

LaMorinda Thunderbirds host the West Contra Costa Rockets in a battle of unbeatens Sunday at Miramonte in an East Bay Pop Warner League football game.

Kickoff time is 1:30 p.m.

Both teams have 5-0 records.

Last week, the Thunderbirds came on strong in the second half for a 25-6 win over Pleasant Hill, a new entry in the league this year.

Pleasant Hill started off fast, scoring first and holding on for a 6-6 deadlock at the half.

However, it was the Thunderbirds all the way in the second after the intermission.

Pleasant Hill's outstanding halfback, Mike Mossman, found a huge hole in the LaMorinda line and scampered 47 yards for a touchdown midway through the opening period to give the Rebels a 6-0 lead.

With Kevin Smith and Bob Voortmeyer doing most of the ball-carrying, the Thunderbirds moved 65 yards to tie the game in the second quarter. Smith smashed over right guard from three yards out for the score.

THE THUNDERBIRDS took the second half kickoff on their own 38 and moved downfield for the deciding score. Halfback Steve Seely collected the six points on a 20-yard run.

Trailing, 12-6, the Rebels still could do nothing against a stubborn LaMorinda defense and were forced into a punt situation following the kickoff.

Pleasant Hill kicked the ball out and Voortmeyer scampered from midfield to the Rebels' 34 to set up the Thunderbirds' third score early in the fourth period.

With Seely and Smith carrying on five straight plays, the T-Birds moved to the three where Smith scored.

After holding the Rebels again, the LaMorinda took over on their own 42.

On the first play, Smith, on a reverse, raced 58 yards for the LaMorindans' fourth score.

Miramonte Ends Unbeaten Cross Country Season

Miramonte completed another undefeated season in cross-country last week by easily defeating previously unbeaten Del Valle, 19-40.

It was the sixth dual meet win for the Matadors.

The Trojans were 3-0 going into the meet.

In another meet, San Ramon defeated Las Lomas, 21-36.

After The Sun went to press, the final three meets of the regular season were held.

Next Wednesday the championship runoff between all seven league teams will be held.

Last Saturday at the fourth annual Modesto Invitation, San Ramon collected 417 over all to win top meet honors.

Pleasant Hill, the 1959 overall winner, finished fifth this year with 742 points.

QUARTERBACK Tom Alexander of Acalanes is hounded by three Del Valle linemen as he attempts to pass in last Friday night's game in Lafayette. Alexander never got the pass away as Scott Smith (64), Max Christiansen (55) and another unidentified Trojan hauled him down.

Las Lomas Atop FAL; Favored To Win Title Again

Knights Face Alhambra; Mats-San Ramon Battle

By HEC HANCOCK

Tonight in the Foothill Athletic League, Las Lomas will be getting a "breather" in preparation for next Friday night's title struggle with Del Valle while San Ramon and Miramonte square in an "elimination match" in Danville.

The Knights, who last week took over first place in the FAL, should have no trouble keeping their half-game lead by beating winless Alhambra in Martinez tonight.

San Ramon and Miramonte, both with a loss on their records, both "must win this evening to keep in the running.

Del Valle (2-2) and Piedmont (1-2), both hoping to gain a tie for that second or third spot in the standing meeting tonight at the Acalanes field.

THE DONS (1-3-1) have a bye this week.

If the Knights win tonight—and then beat the Trojans, no one can catch them. It would mean a final 5-0-1 league record.

The Knights are the only team in the league now without a loss. They played a 7-7 tie with Acalanes in four games.

Both Miramonte and San Ramon have one loss. The Wolves close out their season tonight. The Mats have to play Alhambra and Piedmont after tonight's game.

The Knights will stake much of their hopes on their superb front wall. Thus far this season, the linemen have shown themselves to be the toast of the league.

Bill Staley and Dan Cotlow at tackles are as fine a pair of linemen to be found in the league. Steve Alexakos has shown excellent progress. Rick Laven and Otto Schatz have turned in great jobs all season long at the guard spots. Walter Gulden and Jack Gillete have shared duties at center. Gary Ford at one flanker spot and Jerry Nordeman at the other round out the Big Red forward wall.

COUPLED WITH the Knight line, has been the development of their offense.

The return of Bob Krieder to the lineup has seemed to spark attack. John Allen and Brian Nissen have also shouldered their share of the running duties.

Quarterback Mike McGinnis has in recent games demonstrated he can throw effectively, passing mostly to Ford. Many feel Ford is the top receiver in the league.

In Alhambra, the Knights will have anything but a soft touch. The Bulldogs are a young club, and have been hurt in several of their earlier games by a lack of depth.

However, in Bob Ball, Bart Spina and Paul Waite, the Bulldogs have shown fine offensive potential. Their passing game is felt by many to be the best in the league. The young Bulldogs, still winless on the season, would like nothing better than to assume the role of spoiler, and knock the vaunted Knights from their perch atop the heap.

Down at Danville, the San Ramon Wolfpack will wind up their season with the game against Miramonte. Both teams will be all out for this one, as the loser is virtually eliminated from any further chance at the league championship.

SAN RAMON will rely, as they have most of the season, on their pair of speedy halfbacks, Ric Aboud and Lincoln Arthur. Chuck Fereira and Wayne Canterbury will direct the attack from the quarterback position.

San Ramon is hoping that Chuck Husted, who has been hampered in recent weeks by a sprained ankle, will be ready to see full time duty at tackle.

Mike Skinner, fullback, reinjured a knee in the Las Lomas encounter last week, and is considered a doubtful starter.

Miramonte coach George Galli hopes to have his troops high for tonight's contest. The Matadors drew the bye last week, and should be well rested.

Fullback Dean Hilger will lead the Matador offense. Assisting with the running chores will be halfback Bob Williams.

MIRAMONTE IS counting on their line to contain the speedy San Ramon backs. Butch Workman, Bruce Nickerson, Clint DeWitt and Bob Miller have given opposing runners very little in the way of yardage.

While the Matador team doesn't have great overall team speed, they have shown they can cope with the speedier types. Their defensing of fast Del Valle team is a good example.

Del Valle will be the host as the Piedmont Scots make their third visit of the season on this side of the hills.

The Trojans, in their first season in the FAL, currently have two victories against two defeats. They are hoping to add the Scots to their list.

Spearheading the Trojan attack, is Bill O'Toole, halfback. O'Toole has shown he has the speed and size to go with the best in the league. An equally big threat in the Del Valle offense is Cliff Schroeder. Mal Cameron provides the punch up the middle to round out the ground attack.

Bob Kovats has passed enough to supplement the running game. With receivers such as O'Toole and Schroeder, who are threats to go all the way, the Trojan air game deserves plenty of respect.

PIEDMONT WILL be seeking to keep their recently acquired winning habit intact.

Fresh off their first FAL win of the season over Alhambra, the Scots will be hoping to atone for some of the tough losses they have sustained (14-9 to Las Lomas and 13-12 to San Ramon).

Jay Knowland, halfback, has sparked the Scot attack in recent games, having scored four touchdowns in the last two games. However, the biggest Scot threat is halfback, Tom Williamson. Williamson is both a fine runner, as well as doubling as quarterback Steve Lawyer's top receiver.

Aggressive and New.....

DEFEAT MEANS elimination for either Miramonte and San Ramon as the Foothill League race goes down to the wire. The Matadors and Wolves meet tonight in Danville with both teams having one loss and trailing undefeated Las Lomas in the league standings. Miramonte won its first four games of the 1962 season under the dynamic leadership of new coach George Galli (pointing, left, shown with assistant Don Phillips). Cal Gower (right, shown with Rieaboud), took over the head coaching reins at San Ramon after the two non-league games and the Wolves won four in a row. Both winning streaks were ended by defending champion Las Lomas, however. Tonight it's do or die for the teams with the new coaches.

Knights Thump Wolves

By ROGER JERNIGAN

The Knights of Las Lomas invade Alhambra tonight to battle the winless Bulldogs after scoring a "must" victory over visiting San Ramon last Friday night.

The Knights upset the favored Wolves, 19-6, and surmounted the major obstacle on the way to defending its Foothill League crown.

San Ramon took the opening kick-off and proceeded to march downfield due to the dazzling speed of Lincoln Arthur on end sweeps to the Las Lomas 28.

A penalty and fine line play led by Knights Otto Shatz and Rick Laven stymied the Wolf offensive threat and for the rest of the first period both teams played to a scoreless tie.

Just before the close of the first period, Las Lomas started a drive from the San Ramon 39-yard line after forcing a punt.

Quarterback Mike McGinnis hit Gary Ford for 11 yards and a first down as the gun sounded ending the first stanza.

ON THE FIRST play from scrimmage in the second period, Bob Kreider swept right end and scampered 14 yards for the TD. The Knights went into a standard kicking formation, but Jim Roessler took a direct snap from center and fired a pass to Gary Ford all alone in the end zone for the extra point.

Seconds later, San Ramon's Ric Aboud took a booming kick-off on his own five and returned it to the 18.

Lincoln Arthur was snagged by Dan Cotlow for no gain on first down, but Aboud found a gaping hole in the Las Lomas' right side and broke untouched into the Knight secondary. Heading for the sidelines, Aboud turned on the flashing speed that has marked the Wolves' offensive attack all season long, spurting 82 yards to reach paydirt just as a pursuing John Phillips upended him with a diving tackle. There was 10:52 left in the half as the conversion attempt went wide. The Knights still led, 7-6.

Las Lomas came roaring back for another score minutes later, going 55 yards in six plays.

The drive was highlighted by the smashing charges of Fullback Brian Nissen, a 24-yard jaunt by Kreider on the ageless Statue of Liberty play, and a short burst of seven yards by John Allen.

A PENALTY threatened to halt the drive, but Nissen took a pitchout from McGinnis and rolled around right end, picking up a fine block from Bill Staley and going 40 yards for the touchdown. The PAT was wide and the Knights held a 13-6 lead with 7:12 remaining in the half.

Both teams threatened again in the last few minutes of the half.

San Ramon Quarterback Wayne Canterbury tossed a perfect strike to Aboud near the end zone but a fine defensive effort deflected the pigskin. Las Lomas made a late march toward pay dirt, but Arthur intercepted a pass ending the drive and both teams left the field for a halftime rest.

A see-saw battle ensued for most of the third period until Ford recovered a Wolf fumble on the 38.

On the first play, Wolf Mike Fay intercepted a pass, was hit hard and fumbled back into the hands of Steve Alexakos. The elusive pigskin was again in the hands of the Knights on the 36.

Kreider carried five times and went the final six yards for the third touchdown. The Knights now held a 19-6 lead which was to be the final margin of victory.

Highlanders Defeat Hapless Bulldogs

Piedmont won its first Foothill League game of the season and handed Alhambra its ninth straight FAL loss last Friday night, 18-0, in Piedmont.

Piedmont is now 1-2 in league play. The Bulldogs are 0-4 this season.

Jay Knowland and Steve Lawyer scored in the first period to give the Scots a commanding lead.

Knowland scored again in the third quarter.

Orinda CC Plays For Tennis Title

Orinda Country Club hosts Live Oak (No. 2) Sunday in its third and final match of the season in the Mixed B League of the Northern California Interclub competition Sunday, 2 p.m. at the country club courts.

Orinda defeated Live Oak (No. 1), 6-5, and the Challengers, 8-3, in its two previous matches.

Live Oak (No. 2) is also 2-0.

A win Sunday would give the Orindans the league title and moves them up to the Mixed A League next season.

DVC Cage Coach To Be Speaker

Charles S. Karp, head basketball coach at Diablo Valley College, will be a guest speaker at the fourth annual Monterey Basketball Clinic to be held in Monterey today and tomorrow.

The clinic, to be held in conjunction with a meeting of the California Health, Physical Education and Recreation Association, is expected to attract more than 500 basketball coaches and physical education instructors from schools and colleges throughout California.

Karp, who joined the DVC faculty in 1960 as head basketball coach, will have as his topic the Pressing Defense.

Knights Favored Tonight; Face Del Valle in Finale

In six games this season, Las Lomas has been the favorite only once.

That time they could only tie Acalanes, 7-7.

The other five games—Pleasant Hill, Mt. Diablo, Piedmont, Miramonte and San Ramon—the Knights were the definite underdog.

Their record on the season shows only one loss, 6-0, to Pleasant Hill, however.

In successive games, coach Duane Louis' boys knocked off Piedmont, Miramonte and San Ramon, three of the four preseason "favorites" in the Foothill League. (Del Valle was considered another "favorite.")

Now, perched atop the league and favored to the title they grabbed off last season (also without a loss), the Knights are again favored to win tonight — over winless Alhambra.

The Bulldogs could be tough, but no one thinks they will upset the determined Knights.

A WEEK FROM tonight, Las Lomas and Del Valle, both Walnut Creek schools, clash for the first time in varsity football competition.

And this game should decide the winner of the FAL football title.

A loss would probably eliminate the Knights because of the tie with Acalanes.

If San Ramon or Miramonte finished the season with just one loss (as they have now), one or the other would win the title.

Judging from past performances, The Sun staff of football "experts" believes Las Lomas' fine line will be able to handle Del Valle's line, win that game and the league title.

The Sun sports staff is picking San Ramon and Las Lomas to win tonight, therefore making the Del Valle-Las Lomas game next Friday the "big one" of the year in the FAL.

THE STAFF is divided, but picks the Wolves to get by Miramonte by a 3-2 vote.

In other prep games, Del Valle, Pittsburg and Mt. Diablo are favored.

The 49ers, Raiders and Cal are favored (to lose) as usual while Stanford is a surprise favorite this week.

Sports Editor George Colburn, who last week evened his record of "wild card" picks this season (3-3-1) by picking the New York Giants over Washington's Redskins, this week sees the lowly St. Louis Cardinals halting Y. A. Tittle and his gang, 21-20.

THE CONSENSUS (44-19-5)—Choices for this week's top high school, college and pro games:

San Ramon over Miramonte (3-2) — This should be a real battle.

Las Lomas over Alhambra (5-0) — The Knights should "breeze."

Del Valle over Piedmont (3-2) —Another close one in the FAL.

Pittsburg over College Park (5-0) — College Falcons just can't score.

Mt. Diablo over Clayton Valley (5-0) — Devils keep on winning.

Contra Costa over DVC (5-0)—The Vikings keep their streak going.

UCLA over Cal (3-2)—Morton will never have to do as well.

Stanford over Oregon (3-2)—When will the Indians become consistent?

Young Dog In Sun Finds New Domicile

A year-old female German shepherd found a new home last week when sold by P. Miller, 297 Strand Avenue, Pleasant Hill, with only one Sun want ad.

E. A. Ristow, 1524 Huston Road, Lafayette, leased his 3-bedroom, 2-bath house with a single want ad in The Sun.

R. H. Clough, 50 Castle Crest, Walnut Creek, took one want ad in The Sun and reported immediate sale of his roll-a-way bed and mattress.

A single ad in The Sun sold a completely automatic electric range with double oven for C. A. Slack, 3713 Mosswood Drive, Lafayette.

And W. L. Shaw, 295 Keats Circle, Pleasant Hill, sold his Plymouth sedan last week after placing only one ad in The Sun.

Sun adwriters hear of time- and money-saving results like these daily. They call them "success stories."

The success part of The Sun want ad story is based on special Sun 5-in-1 coverage.

When you buy one ad in The Sun, it appears in all five Sun publications, including the 48,000-circulation Sun Shopping News, and the subscription newspapers: The Lafayette Sun, The Pleasant Hill Sun, The Walnut Creek Sun and The Orinda Sun.

A 14-word ad costs only $1.60 —even less for multiple runs. Call a Sun adwriter at 934-5000 or 284-4444.

County Compromises on Industrial Inspections

After two months of discussions between industrial leaders and county officials, a compromise was reached on county inspection of construction work in large industrial plants.

Under the new ordinance, no county inspection will be made of plants with secret processes, and no inspection will be required for minor plant changes and regular maintenance work.

Until recently, the county has not inspected work in plants with more than 50 employees. The theory was that these plants would ordinarily employ engineers to watch the work. Also, it was argued, the state laws made it worthwhile for the owner to protect employees.

AT THE REQUEST of county building inspector Rudolph Kraintz, the board of supervisors recently changed the building inspection ordinance to include all industrial work.

Kraintz, who made the two major retreats in the compromise, agreed that plants with secret processes, which could be disclosed through plans filed with a building permit request, would not have to show those plans.

However, the company must provide a statement by an engineer or architect familiar with the various building codes used in the county, that the construction work does comply and is safe.

If there is no such engineer, the owner may be required to make a sworn statement that there was an inspection by plant or construction personnel.

COUNTY OFFICIALS agreed with industrialists that in the case of maintenance work, small projects, which in private homes might require permits, might be done every day in a large plant.

The county reserved the right to make periodic inspections to be sure work was being done safely and according to building code standards.

In minor alterations of buildings, permits will still be needed, but only periodic inspections would be made.

In other plant changes, which can be labeled maintenance, no building permit will be required.

County Orders Quarantine on Skunk Trapping

"Because of increasing incidence of animal rabies in Contra Costa County and other California areas, the State Health Department has declared a statewide quarantine order on skunks," Dr. Glen W. Kent, acting County Health Officer, announced today.

As of last Wednesday, under the authority of the State Health and Safety Code and the California Administrative Code, H. L. Blum, M.D., County Health Officer, prohibits: 1. trapping or capture of skunks for pets, 2. trapping, capture, or holding of skunks in captivity for sale, barter, exchange, or gift, and 3. transportation of all skunks from or into Contra Costa County except by permit from the State Health Department to recognized zoological gardens or research institutions.

All retail pet store owners and wholesale pet suppliers are especially warned to be alert to this quarantine order.

Twenty-five proven rabid skunks have been discovered in Contra Costa County so far this year. Because of the increasing prevalance of rabies in these animals, all dog owners are again requested to be sure that their pets are vaccinated against rabies.

"An immune dog population is one of the best means of protecting children and adults from possible rabies infection," Dr. Kent said.

California state law requires that all dogs four months of age and older be vaccinated for rabies. Dogs under four months of age are required to be confined.

School Loans Dropin61-62

School bonds and loans authorized by the voters of Contra Costa County school districts in 1961-62 totaled less than $2,000,000, one of the smallest amounts in recent years.

Bond issues totaling $963,000 were approved by three districts: Canyon, $13,000; San Ramon Valley Union High School, $600,000; and Moraga, $350,000. Vine Hill electorate authorized borrowing $600,000 from the state.

The $1,563,000 thus authorized for school construction compares with $2,972,900 the previous year, according to County Superintendent Floyd Marchus' office in Pleasant Hill. The larger amount in itself provides a clue to the reason for the low of 1961-62.

The electorate in approximately one-third of the school districts has authorized bonding ahead of current capacity—five per cent of the assessed valuation, 10 per cent in unified districts.

Districts are thus able, without annual elections, to issue bonds whenever they gain assessed valuation and, if financially distressed, can continue to qualify for state building loans by being bonded to capacity.

Burton School Plans Annual 'Book Fair'

The annual Book Fair at Burton School, under the direction of Mrs. Vi Bishop, will be held November 12-16.

The book fair is sponsored by the PTA to raise funds for the school library.

The books will be on display at the school in the library and both parents and children will be able to make selections from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily.

In this manner, each child will have the opportunity of showing selections to the parents.

There will be someone on duty each day to take orders for books and give assistance with selections.

Beginning Art Classes Still Open in Lafayette

Valley Art Center still has available a few places for aspiring local artists in its full series of classes, Ruth Howard, art program chairman, said this week.

Beginning and advanced artists may yet find a class of their choice, if they hurry.

The schedule of instruction by distinguished artists includes, on Monday, from 9:30 to 11 a.m., a silk screen workshop conducted by Marilyn Lassagne and from 1 to 4 p.m., a class in oils and mixed media by Earl Pierce.

On Tuesday from 9 to 12, Lundy Siegriest teaches a class in contemporary landscape oils.

ON WEDNESDAY from 9 to 12, Dave Granno teaches a class in landscape water colors.

On Thursday from 9 to 12, and again from 1 to 4, Peter Blos gives classes in portrait oils.

On Friday from 9 to 12, and again from 12:30 to 3:30, Katharine Barieau teaches classes in figure painting oils.

On Saturday, in cooperation with the Children's Art Association, classes are given for seventh, eighth and ninth grade school children.

"The Valley Art Center has been extremely fortunate this year," said Mrs. Howard, "in gathering together a group of prize-winning artists interested in teaching small classes to beginners as well as more advanced pupils."

Because of the expended interest which has been shown in the classes, the Valley Art Center has rented a studio specially for their conduct at 3381 Mt. Diablo Boulevard.

Anyone interested in taking any of the above classes should contact Mrs. William Vogt (283-8356) or the Valley Art Center Gallery, 978 Hough Street, Lafayette, between 2 and 4 Monday through Saturday.

Religion-Mental Health Discussed

Discussion leader for the organizing chapter of the Academy of Religion and Mental Health at its October meeting was Mrs. Hans Wendel of Lafayette.

Mrs. Wendel discussed "Mental Health in the Light of Ancient Wisdom," drawing her material from a publication by Henry Dicks, M.D., F.R.C. P. of Tavistoc Clinic, London.

Organizing members met at the Pedregal Center, 936 Dewing Avenue, Lafayette. Pedregal is Contra Costa's only day psychiatric therapy center.

REPRESENTATIVES of the United Church Women, County Health Department, Pedregal Center and private physicians and psychiatrists attended the meeting.

In addition, Rev. Nathan Bond of Valley Baptist Church and Rev. Carl Thomas of the Lafayette-Orinda Presbyterian Church participated in the meeting.

Speaker for the November 29 meeting of this group will be Mrs. Elizabeth B. Howes, Ph.D., of the Guild for Psychological Study, San Francisco. She will discuss the contributions of Carl Jung.

Professional and lay persons interested in attending the next meeting of this group may call Rev. Bond or the Pedregal Center, 284-1611 for further information.

Pedregal Center is under the medical supervision of Dr. Herbert C. Enos. Geylord Fox is administrative director.

Hours Changed At Art Center

Mrs. Burchard Styles, gallery manager, has announced that, as the result of popular demand, the Valley Art Center Gallery at 978 Hough Street, Lafayette, is now open from 2 to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Shows at the gallery are changed regularly and cover a wide spectrum of artistic endeavor.

High School Apprenticeship Pamphlet Out

"Learn While You Earn," a pamphlet on the apprenticeship system, is being distributed by the Contra Costa County School Department to counselors in the county's high schools.

Charles Ferrell, consultant in trade and industrial education, said approximately 600 young men annually participate in the apprenticeship program in Contra Costa County, training in a wide range of crafts.

Ferrell commented that "approximately one person out of every four who are employed in California is working in a skilled, apprenticeable occupation."

"Learn While You Earn" is a publication of the county school department, designed to inform high school students about industrial apprenticeship. It is available upon request, Contra Costa County Schools, 75 Santa Barbara Road, Pleasant Hill.

Cancer Society Head Speaks on Nobel Prize

This year's newly-announced Nobel prize winners in science have performed not only a great leap in the history of science but have moved closer to a solution to the problem of cancer, Dr. Jonas Schreider, president of the American Cancer Society in Contra Costa, said.

Dr. Schreider called attention to the fact that the two young men prize winners, Francis H. C. Crick of Cambridge and James D. Watson of Harvard, in their work together at Cambridge on the structure of DNA have provided new knowledge of striking use in cancer research.

"Our scientists are now close to a feat that will rival the conquest of space — the unlocking of the secrets of heredity, reproduction and of life itself," the medic said.

"Research on DNA — the change in the cell nucleus which is found in the nuclei of all living cells — unlocks the cell's normal mechanisms for controlling growth; and also in many viruses, apparently holds the key to the cancer puzzle," he declared.

Some cancers are due to a unique chemical which is found upsets the cell's normal mechanisms for controlling growth; as a result, the cell goes wild, Dr. Schreider explained.

Gifts for the Lonely Needed by Workshop

Lists of requested gifts to be given to the lonely, forgotten men and women on geriatric wards at Napa State Hospital can be requested from the recently established Christmas Workshop project of the Contra Costa County Mental Health Association under the chairmanship of Mrs. Carl Rouse of Danville and co-chairman Mrs. Raymond Stuck of Martinez.

Approximately 30 wards containing about 1800 persons who have been bypassed by time, their families and friends will be receiving this once-a-year remembrance gift.

"Every one of us enjoy receiving gifts. When you take a moment to realize what it means to these forsaken men and women, you can only begin to realize how important this project is," Mrs. Rouse remarked.

"WE ARE already receiving calls from youth and church groups for lists and offers of assistance.

"But we still need broader community support. We also will need money for subscriptions for the librarians at the Napa State Hospital and 'J' Ward at the County Hospital," she added.

Assisting Mrs. Rouse and Mrs. Stuck are the following members of their committee: Mrs. John Pease of Alamo; Mrs. Harry Stewart of Danville; Mrs. Stephen Fish and Miss Ethel Willmer of Walnut Creek; and Mrs. Vernon Gair of Pacheco.

Christmas wrappings, ornaments, strings, boxes and other miscellaneous trimmings for the unwrapped gifts donated, as well as decorations for the hospital wards, are also being solicited.

Gifts for men should include shaving lotion, hair brushes, shampoo, shaving soap, hair dressings, socks, ties, scarves, belts, suspenders, wallets, tie clasps, pipes, stationery, handkerchiefs, tobacco, tobacco pouches, ball point pens and cigarettes.

FOR WOMEN, face powder, talcum powder, powder puffs, hand lotion, nail polish, emery boards, shampoo, cold cream, lipsticks, perfume, cologne, bath soap, combs, brushes, home permanents, hair ornaments, hosiery, clippers, aprons, costume jewelry, purses and wallets, ribbons and flowers, stationery, crochet cotton, knitting yarns, handkerchiefs, ball point pens and eye makeup.

General gifts are also needed such as magazine and newspaper subscriptions, and last minute items for those not provided with a gift.

Monies may be donated for this purpose and should be sent to the Contra Costa Mental Health Association at 2030 North Main Street, Walnut Creek.

In the west side of the county please call the Bargain Center at 1424 Macdonald Avenue, Richmond, or call 235-9060.

October 14 was American Guild of Organists Sunday.

During church services, ministers called attention to the selfless work of church musicians throughout the country.

The local organists' guild honored church ministers on October 15 at Ministers' Night, when a panel discussed "My Responsibility to the Church Music Program" after a movie on organ building and music at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Walnut Creek.

Participating in the panel were the newly elected dean of the Contra Costa chapter of A.G.O. Dawn Davis, the Reverend Martin Werfelman of Danville, Kenneth Mansfield, Jr., and Ronald Standring.

All ministers, organists and choir directors were invited.

Dawn Davis has been organist at the First Presbyterian Church in Concord for 18 years, where she is also choir coordinator and director of the Crusader Boys Choir.

She is director of the Mt. Diablo Choraliers, a women's chorus sponsored by the City of Concord. She studied organ with the late Fred Freeman and is now studying with John Burke of Oakland. Last year she organized the all-day organists' workshop and served as subdean of A.G.O.

Kenneth Mansfield, Jr., a resident of Walnut Creek, is recitalist at the Mormon Inter-Stake Center in Oakland and organist at St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Oakland.

Ronald Standring of Pleasant Hill is minister of music at Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church and is one of the few full-time church musicians in the area. Reverend Werfelman is the official chaplain of A.G.O.

Other officers of the local chapter are: Sub-dean, William T. Stone of Walnut Creek; registrar, Thomas Walters of Pleasant Hill; treasurer, Marvin Workinger of Walnut Creek; and secretary, Meta Leach of Danville.

Four hundred ninety-three homeless or transient men, women and children were provided food and shelted by the United Crusade-supported Salvation Army Richmond Corps during 1961.

Heart Official To Cleveland For Meeting

Dr. Marvin Epstein of Alamo, past president of the Contra Costa County Heart Association and currently a member of the board of directors, participated in the program of the American Heart Association in the annual meeting in Cleveland from October 26 through October 30.

Dr. Epstein made a presentation at a panel discussion on the subject "Community Program Standards."

The talk will be based on his work as chairman of a California Heart Association's committee studying work of local chapters.

The local physician is also a state delegate to the American Heart Association Assembly.

Also attending the Cleveland meeting was Dr. Mary L. Eilert, Walnut Creek, who is serving as a member of the Council on Arteriosclerosis.

Realtors Announce Directors

Realtor directors of the California Real Estate Association for 1963 were announced by J. N. Smith, president, Contra Costa Board of Realtors and Charles Brown, president of the state association.

Representing the local board are Ray Henry, president-elect; M. H. Binker, William Glogovac, Ray Isaacs, Dick Jarrett, Ray McCoy, Mildred Tinker and Clark Wallace.

State directors meet quarterly to carry out annual projects and objectives established the beginning of each year.

There are over 900 in the state representing 137,000 members of the organized real estate industry.

Another major function of the directors is to establish policy and coordinate the activities of 171 member boards throughout the state.

Collier Bill Tax Is Reported Declining

A countywide tax levied in Contra Costa to offset losses to school districts under the Collier Bill has declined from last year's rate of 4.9 cents to a 1962-63 rate of 3.6 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

Revenue from the countywide tax will make up the loss by 20 school districts of approximately $357,000 in state equalization aid, according to the office of County Superintendent Floyd Marchus.

Two years ago the loss in equalization aid to the 20 districts was $574,937. The change in amount of loss coincides with the findings of the State Board of Equalization that the county's rate of assessing property was first eight per cent below the average in the state, then five per cent, and, as applied this year, four per cent. The newly announced figure, to be applied to the reduction of equalization aid in 1963-64, is three per cent.

The Collier Bill adjusts such aid according to the ratio between local assessment and the average rate levied by the counties. Offset tax rates have ranged as high as 14 cents in Contra Costa County.

The 14-cent rate was experienced in Mt. Diablo Unified School District in 1960-61, the year the Collier Bill became fully operative.

The offset tax was then levied on the individual district.

Subsequently the Collier Bill was amended to spread the tax countywide instead of penalizing the individual school district of low assessed valuation per pupil, where tax rates were already high.

Holiday Cards Aiding Heart Research Effort

For the fourth year, the Contra Costa County Heart Association is making available Christmas cards for those wishing to use this means of contributing to heart research.

A choice may be made between two cards designed by students of the San Francisco Art Institute. One card on a background of magenta, features a stylized drawing of a partridge in a pear tree in brown and gold. A silhouetted city on a blue background with a write star overhead is in a contemporary vein.

Both cards carry a greeting and the message "This card signifies a contribution to your heart association."

Cards may be imprinted with the sender's name for those ordering a supply before November 30.

Supporters of heart research are invited to purchase the cards to send to their regular Christmas mailing list or clients and customers, in the case of places of business.

Contributions are tax deductive. The heart association suggests that the sum contributed be based on the usual amount spent on yuletide greeting cards. After actual cost and mailing charges are deducted the entire amount is allocated to the heart research program.

Cards are on display at the Contra Costa County Heart Association office, 2030 North Main Street, Walnut Creek. A descriptive brochure will be mailed upon request. Call 935-1060 for information.

Headlights Important, Says CHP

Captain Edward M. Jelich, commander of the California Highway Patrol's Concord Area, stated today, "One of the most valuable aids to foul weather driving is the proper use and maintenance of your car's lighting system."

Headlights have a dual function: First, to illuminate the roadway for you; second, to warn other vehicles of your presence.

"Many drivers apparently overlook the second purpose, driving through rain or fog without lights. Perhaps they feel that visibility is adequate to operate their own vehicles, but they forget that it is extremely difficult for them to be seen by other drivers or pedestrians.

"The safest course is to turn on your headlights if vision is at all reduced by weather or lighting conditions.

"Remember to use your headlights, not parking lights. It is a violation to drive with only the parking lamp lighted."

"It is particularly hazardous to following vehicles when brake lights or tail lights are not functioning and confusing to approaching vehicles when one headlight is burned out."

Dance Planned

New officers were introduced and dance plans announced at recent Indian Valley Parents Club meeting.

Officers include President Bill LaMayeau, Vice President Ed Boyer, Secretary Roberta Dunlap and Treasurer Betty Edwards.

'Most Happy Fella' Offered By Local Group

Light opera enthusiasts and planned parenthood supporters will combine forces Saturday evening, November 17, when the Diablo Light Opera company presents its premiere performance of "The Most Happy Fella" in the Piedmont High School auditorium, 800 Magnolia Avenue.

Curtain time is 8 p.m.

The event will mark a series of "firsts"—the first East Bay production of the Frank Loesser hit, which opened on Broadway May 3, 1956; the first Alameda County performance by the popular Diablo Light Opera company, now starting its fourth season, and the first theatre benefit to be sponsored by the Planned Parenthood League of Alameda County.

"The Most Happy Fella" is based on Sidney Howard's play, "They Knew What They Wanted," which tells of life and love among Napa Valley grape-growers. Angelo Laspina of San Leandro will sing the title role, with Pat Wilson of Concord as the San Francisco waitress who becomes his bride.

Four other romances lend gaiety to the evening's entertainment, which also includes several colorful production numbers.

Formed in 1959 by a number of University of California graduates who had sung together in campus musical groups, the Diablo Light Opera company now comprises nearly 70 professional and amateur singers, dancers and production personnel.

First performances were of Gilbert and Sullivan operettas, with the Lerner - Loew musical comedy, "Brigadoon," added to their repertoire last year.

"The Most Happy Fella" is the group's most ambitious project to date and the first to use a 32-piece orchestra, according to Dr. Donald R. Poulton, Alameda dentist who is now president of the company.

Admission to "The Most Happy Fella" is by a two-dollar donation to the Planned Parenthoow League of Alameda County to further its three-way program of family planning clinic services, education and research for population control at home and abroad.

Tickets are available in Oakland at Lakeshore Electric, 3411 Lake Shore Avenue, and Bayer's Music Store, 1974 Mountain Boulevard, Montclair; in Berkeley at Record City, 2340 Telegraph Avenue, and in the Piedmont Community Church office, 400 Highland Avenue.

Tickets may also be ordered by mail from Mrs. John Lasher, 1116 Longridge Road, Oakland.

Easter Seal Society Honored at Meeting

The Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Contra Costa County was honored at a statewide meeting of Easter Seal Society units recently for "dedicated service to the physically handicapped of its community during 1962."

A citation awarded the local society pointed to its "initiative in developing vocational services for handicapped young adults, broadening the scope of its operations, and increased Easter Seal fund-raising to meet its goal of an expanded service program."

The citation was voted by the board of directors of the California Society for Crippled Children and Adults, and was presented to the local group by Mrs. Esther Elder Smith, executive director of the state organization.

The presentation took place in ceremonies climaxing two and a half days of educational and business sessions.

Delegates from 49 affiliated local Easter Seal groups reviewed the treatment, training and rehabilitation services they operate throughout the state, and planned to step up their programs to reach an increased number of California's 500,000 physically handicapped residents during the coming year.

The delegates heard state health and education officials credit the Easter Seal organization with having brought into existence two major agencies which now provide treatment and special education for California's handicapped children.

Dr. Charles R. Gardipee, chief of the Bureau of Crippled Children Services, declared that his agency and others serving handicapped children and adults, "constantly profit from the guidance and advice" of the Easter Seal organization.

He urged intensified local society action to insure that these public services "meet the needs of handicapped children and their parents in the most effective and efficient way."

Dr. Gardipee declared that a combination of medical advances and the expansion of Easter Seal voluntarily-supported services have helped bring about a 15 per cent reduction in the percentage of California children for whom the state agency must provide care or treatment, even though 22,200 more children received the tax-supported services in 1960-61 than in 1950-51.

Dr. Francis W. Doyle, deputy superintendent of public instruction, noted that the state's system of special schools and facilities for handicapped children resulted from the same Easter Seal-initiated legislation that created the medical service agency.

The society, he said, "has helped place California in national leadership in special education services for handicapped children."

Other public officials reporting to the meeting included Leon Lefson, chief of the Bureau of Aid to the Needy Disabled, and Gordon R. Cumming, head of the state's Bureau of Hospitals.

Representatives of the local Easter Seal units also planned to develop community-level action for the elimination of architectural barriers which deny handicapped persons access to public buildings and facilities.

Swim Club Elects New Directors

A new board of directors for the Pleasant Hill Swim Club Parents Association was elected at the October general meeting.

Incoming officers are John Stenson, president; Duke Johnston, vice president; Mrs. Marguerite Krueger, secretary; Ralph Cotcher, treasurer, and Mrs. Idelle Caldwell, John Kilbuck and Cliff Percy, directors.

Stevenson lauded Coach Ervin Zador and retiring President Cliff Percy for the successful season just completed.

He announced the commencement of "dry-land" winter workouts starting Monday. The team will return to the water in January, when the park pool reopens after necessary repairs.

Homecoming Week Is At Diablo Valley College

Diablo Valley College, through the combined effort of its social clubs, is holding its 17th Annual Homecoming Week.

Opening the six days of social activities was the "Four Preps" vocal group.

The two-hour performance was held Monday night in the college gym.

The presentation of the "Four Preps" was sponsored by the Diablo Valley Student-Teachers of California Association and the Stick and Rudder Club.

On Tuesday Diablo Valley's Phi Alpha Kappa and Alpha Gamma Sigma Club's sponsored a collection of toys for the neurologically handicapped children.

These articles will be used on the college campus for a neurologically handicapped pilot project.

On Wednesday the skiclub presented a movie showing and the college's newly formed jazz band, under the direction of Dick Beecher, performed at 11 a.m. in the Diablo Room.

Thursday's activities consisted of an afternoon sports carnival and a jazz concert held in the college gym.

The jazz program was directed by Beecher and moderated by Jim Chaney.

Diablo Valley's Viking Band, under the joint direction of Gordon Keddington and Beecher, presented their fall concert at 11 a.m. in the college gym today.

In the evening, at 8 in the amphitheater, an annual bonfire rally will be sponsored by the college rally committee. A dance will follow the rally.

Aggie Group Elects Local Man as Head

The new president, a 1940 graduate of Davis, succeeds Robert Emerson of Lafayette.

Other new officers for the coming year are Robert Munyon of Hillsborough, vice-president; Howard Shontz of Davis, secretary; and Joseph Ogawa of Davis, treasurer. Shontz and Ogawa were re-elected to their posts.

Girl Scout Calendars To Aid Several Groups

Girl Scout calendars for 1963 will go on sale by Brownies, intermediate scouts and senior scouts today through November 17, according to Mrs. Gordon Weston, products chairman, of the Diablo Valley Area Girl Scout Council.

Proceeds from the sale of the calendars go partly to the girls' troops for their own use in troop programs such as cook-outs, trips, supplies for service projects, or to help those less fortunate than themselves as the girls and their leaders decide.

The remainder of the proceeds goes to the council for improvements at Twin Canyon, the day and troop camp in the Lafayette hills; Sierra Woodlands, the summer camp in the high Sierras; and also toward the purchase of Casita Castana, the scout office in Lafayette.

The brightly colored calendars include large spaces for daily appointments, pictures of scouting events, and information on conducting a flag ceremony. They will sell for 50 cents.

Neighborhood products coordinators who are in charge of the girl sales, and from whom calendars may be ordered, include: Mesdames Dewey Huggard, Concord; H. F. Green, Alamo; H. L. Gumbert, Pleasant Hill; Tom Bond, Walnut Creek; Roland H. Giusti, Walnut Creek; Campbell Funk, Danville; George Dennison, Walnut Creek; John Kennedy, Lafayette; Robert Fitch, Pleasant Hill.

Women Have Big Stake In 'Transit'--Morrison

Women have a greater stake in rapid transit than do men, a Bay Area rapid transit official said today.

"The Proposition A program will convenience wives of commuters far more than the commuters themselves," Harry L. Morrison, Jr., a Contra Costa representative to the BARTD board of directors, asserted.

"And remember, the rapid transit program will mean a great deal to the thousands of women — both married and single—who must work, and therefore commute," Morrison said.

He addressed the Pleasant Hill Soroptimist Club at the Walnut Hill Country Club at noon.

"Wives of commuters will reduce the rapid transit issue to its simplest terms," Morrison predicted. "They will see it as the once-in-a-lifetime chance to bring their husbands home far earlier, safely, in much better humor — every workday of the year."

Morrison pointed out that the rapid transit rush-hour service would cut door-to-door commute times from one-half to two-thirds.

"I do not believe the meaning of this will be lost on the wives of commuters," he said. "Many of our wives have had to assume an unfair load in family and home planning—simply because we get home too late to do anything other than kiss the children goodnight."

Working women, Morrison added, would benefit greatly by the over-all improvement of commute patterns.

"I don't have to tell you," he said, "that women's career opportunities unfortunately are still limited in all-too-many fields."

"Rapid transit, because it places major work centers within immediate reach of the commuter, will make it possible for these girls to ferret out all job opportunities available to them . . . not just those few within a tight circle of their homes or apartments."

Forty per cent of the work force, Morrison said, is female.

"And of this 40 per cent," he added, "exactly one-half is comprised of women who are bringing home the basic wage for their family unit.

"It is critical that we provide these women with a modern form of transportation which will keep them from the rigors of automobile rush-hour commuting."

School Districts Group to Elect Two Members

Representatives of school boards in Contra Costa County will meet at Pittsburg Elks Club November 7 at 6 p.m. to elect two members to the County Committee on School District Organization. This committee is charged by state law with preparing a master plan of unified districts.

Terms of Frank E. Loher, representing Richmond Union High School District, and Robert Reed, Antioch Unified School District, are expiring.

Two vacancies which existed earlier have been filled by appointment by the committee of Mrs. Marian McAdams of 1920 Riviera Avenue, Walnut Creek, representing Acalanes area, and Perk A. Slingsby, 134 Jackson Way, Alamo, as a member at large.

The election meeting will immediately precede the annual dinner of board members called by County Superintendent Floyd Marchus, at 7 p.m.

School board representatives from this area who will elect the county committee members are: Walter Day, Alamo; Mrs. Shirley Evans, Danville Union; Mrs. Helen D. Brattain, Lafayette; Alfred Haskell, Moraga; Howard B. Jones, Mt. Diablo Unified; Herbert Waterman, Orinda Union; A. C. Johnson, San Ramon; Irving R. Kraemer, Walnut Creek; Mrs. Alla Knudsen, Acalanes Union High School; John Heuer, San Ramon Valley Union High School; Harmon K. Howard of Walnut Creek, Contra Costa Junior College.

Defense Against Travel Talker in New 'Suburbia'

Have you ever been verbally pummeled by a returning traveler who talks and talks and talks about his adventures? You'll find new defense tactics against this individual when next Friday's edition of The Sun brings you the November issue of "Suburbia Today."

Stephen Potter, originator of "One-upmanship" and a master of the withering remark, offers his tongue-in-cheek advice for squelching such a friend in his article "Travelmanship."

And he adds a section on the intricate oral maneuvers — his famous "ploys" — to keep you in the limelight if you, by chance, should be the returning traveler.

IN A WORD, Mr. Potter tells you what to do if he's coming or you're going.

Pierre Salinger takes time from his busy schedule as White House press secretary to explain how he has made music a welcome and integral part of his family life near Alexandria, Virginia.

The Salingers play the violin and piano together, and listen to Bach and Vivaldi and Brubeck, besides going to concerts and having musicians in to dinner.

In "We Go to Bat for Music!" the White House press secretary explains why he thinks music is as important in the lives of his children as Little League baseball.

THE PLEA for a horse comes from most childrden on the average of once a week from age seven to early teens.

After years of saying "no," you may be surprised to learn how many suburban families are keeping a horse, literally, in their back yards.

"So You Want a Horse?" by Peter Vanderwicken traces the trend of equestrian ownership among suburban families and discusses the costs—and joys—of having a horse around the house.

"It Takes Two to Make a Career," says Mrs. Irving Stone, and she speaks from experience.

When her husband wrote his 672-page best seller, "The Agony and the Ecstasy," Mrs. Stone was, as usual, the editor, business manager, typist, and chief researcher. And they're very lucky, she adds, to have the same hours, working at home.

THE BATTLE of Annexation —where a city tries to take over a suburb on its fringes—is being fought on many fronts. The trouble starts when hard-pressed metropolitan planners seek new sources of revenue and suburban taxpayers, in their turn, fight recapture by the big-city "machine."

In "Who Needs Annexation?" you'll find a report on the fascinating — and urgent — problems that plague the big cities and the towns involved with them.

In a lighter vein, the second edition of "Suburban Album"—old movie stills with hilarious, up-to-date captions — spoofs everything from the Shelley Berman clique to guppies in the bathtub. Take a look and laugh.

a fine record and 8 years of seniority

1. Congressman Baldwin's record of attending to business is one of the most outstanding in the Congress. He is the only Congressman West of the Mississippi River who has never missed a roll-call vote in the eight years he has been in Congress. Only two other members of the 437-member U. S. House of Representatives have a similar record.

2. Congressman Baldwin has steadily built up seniority and respect during his eight years in Congress. He is the senior Californian on the important House Public Works Committee, and will become third-ranking member of his Party on the Committee when the 88th Congress convenes. He is top-ranking member of his Party on the Flood Control Subcommittee, and ranks second among his Party members on the Roads, Watershed Development and Special Investigating Subcommittee on the Federal-Aid Highway Program.

3. Congressman Baldwin was cited two years ago for "particularly outstanding achievement" by the Council of the California Congressional Recognition Plan, which is a highly respected, nonpartisan rating group.

4. Congressman Baldwin was invited last year to the White House to witness the Presidential signature of the Water Pollution Control Act. This recognition was extended to Congressman Baldwin for his effective work on the measure. He was author of two key amendments to the bill.

5. Congressman Baldwin has been described by his fellow Congressman as the "hardest working Member of Congress."
